Time Apparently Ripe
For Japanese To Open
Assault Upon Russia

Interpretation By
Kirke L. Simpson
(Wide World War Analyst)

Another week, bitter with defeat and retreat for Red armies, closed with brightening prospects that a second front attack is impending—but it may be launched in the east and by Japan before Russia's Anglo-American allies are able to strike effectively in the west.

If Japan, still without a decisive victory in China, braved by American air-sea blows and at least checked in the southwest Pacific, is to move at all against Russia under her Axis commitments, the time seems ripe.

Weather conditions for a Siberian assault are right as they will not be again for a 12-month. Chungking and London battle with rumors of Japanese preparations. The German-trained Nipponese conqueror of Singapore and Corregidor now is reported in command in the north. Tokyo has called up all males from 18 to 50 years of age for military service.

Drastic new dem-out measures along the west coast hint that Washington expects Japanese diversion forays. They might be designed, like the Japanese tie-holds in the western Aleutians, to balk or impede American aid to Russia in Siberia.

If that front is opened, Siberian bases could afford expanding American air power opportunity to strike at Japan itself. That possibility still is the most powerful influence upon Tokyo not to jump on her traditional Russian foe prematurely.

Yet beyond a shadow of a doubt Tokyo has two-way commitments with her European Axis mates concerning Russia. That the Japanese war lords are merely biding their time until Hitler and his Italian and Balkan allies have fulfilled their part of the conquest bargain goes without saying. The Axis offensive in Russia has obviously reached a point where Tokyo must be weighing the question of joining the attack on the Soviet. Hitler is so close to having driven Russian armies in the west behind a

SHOWING OF OIL IN BEEKMAN WELL

Drillers Of Union Producing Company 'Elated' Over
Prospects

A drill stem test of a well a half mile west of Beekman, in Morehouse parish, Saturday morning produced a good showing of oil and gas, and drillers of the Union Producing company, which brought in the well, said they were "elated" over the prospects of a discovery well which will produce oil in paying quantities.

While officials of the company refused to estimate the amount of oil the well is capable of making, it was learned that the test showed considerable gas and much oil of high gravity. It was learned that further tests will be made Monday and Tuesday, after perforations through which the test was made had been squeezed Saturday night in an effort to reduce the gas pressure.

The well is on land belonging to the Crossland Land Development company and is described as in the center of SW and NE of Section 6, Township 22N, Range 6E, Morehouse parish. Beekman is approximately 10 miles north of Bastrop.

The well was drilled to 6,506 feet without finding further oil and sand and was plugged back to 3,714 feet. It was at this depth that the test was made. The test was made at 6:21 a.m., and was shut off at 10 a.m. after the test was run.

If producing well is brought in, it will be the first commercial oil well in this area, although a number of holes have been drilled. Clyde Ferguson, Shreveport, is the drilling superintendent and M. A. Peterson is the geologist.

OIL FROM LOUISIANA TO MOVE EASTWARD

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Louisiana oil in hundreds of rumbling tank cars will move east this winter to relieve the fuel oil shortage in factories and homes.

Almost 30 railroad companies in the 56 schedules now in progress. Return movement of empty cars to the producing fields is handled in the same manner as the eastbound loads, solid trains moving on designated schedules.

GERMANS GAINING GROUND
ALSO IN STALINGRAD AREA

Thousands Of Reinforcements Thrown In As Many Invaders Killed

MOSCOW, Sunday, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Two German columns were reported converging on the Maikop oil fields today after cracking Russian defenses in the Krasnodar-Armavir area 60 miles above that prize at the foot of the Caucasian mountains.

Red Star announced the German breakthrough toward Maikop whose wells supply seven per cent of Russia's oil, and the midnight communiqué gave this version of a reverse at Armavir.

"In one sector after bloody fighting during which 14 enemy tanks were destroyed and 500 Germans killed our troops withdrew to new positions." The Red army defending the south-western approaches to Stalingrad "fought with varying success" against a German tank and infantry wedge into the Russian positions northeast of Kotelnikovsky. The phrase "north-east of Kotelnikovsky" indicated the Germans were gaining ground in that area, too.

A communiqué yesterday had located the fighting as "north" of Kotelnikovsky, which is about 95 miles southwest of industrial Stalingrad.

Thousands of German reinforcements were hurled into battle both above and below the Don river in the effort to reach Stalingrad, and another ominous development reported in the latest communiqué was that the Nazis had concentrated a huge tank force south of Kletskaya, which is 75 miles northwest of Stalingrad in the Don valley.

The Germans were said to have left thousands of dead in the wake of their advance, but their reserve flow thus far has filled the gaps.

The German drive on Maikop apparently stemmed mostly from the northeast Kuban river bend because the Russians said their troops also "retreated" over the prospects of a discovery well which will produce oil in paying quantities.

LOCOMOTIVE FIRM PRODUCING TANKS

Continues To Make Engines
But Turns Out Big War
Machines

LIMA, O. Aug. 8.—(AP)—This western Ohio city came up today with an unusual story of war production—how the Lima Locomotive works, instead of "converting" its facilities as thousands of other plants have done, has gone right on making more locomotives than ever before and yet has assumed the extra job of turning out M-4 tanks.

This plant was, in fact, the first to turn out the 30-ton M-4 in quantity. It has been assembling the fighting battering rams since January—in secrecy which the war department broke tonight.

Hundreds of men in three shifts are fitting together the 30,000 parts that make the "General Sherman" tank, and the arsenal is undergoing an expansion which will more than double present production facilities.

These skilled machinists and welders are working with pride, for Captain C. G. Wood of the Cleveland Ordnance district has told them that

ARMY BOMBER FALLS INTO BAY AND SINKS

SAN RAFAEL, Calif., Aug. 8.—(AP)—A two-motored army bomber crashed and sank in San Pablo bay today, evidently killing its crew of three air force officers and an enlisted man.

Hamilton Field said the missing fliers were:

First Lieutenant Robert E. Holland of Benton, Ky., pilot; First Lieutenant Melvin J. Enders, Jr., of Muenster, Tex., pilot; Second Lieutenant Richard R. Longnecker of Houston, Tex., navigator; and Roy M. Fietje, Badger, Iowa, radioman. The next of kin were notified.

The accident occurred while the bomber was on a routine flight from its Hamilton Field base.

AUSTRALIA TOLD INVASION NEAR

Allied Headquarters Report
Great Blow Struck At Japanese Base

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEAD-
QUARTERS, Australia, Aug. 8.—(AP)—A solemn official warning today that Japanese invasion was imminent as the pace of war in this theater notably quickened.

Allied headquarters announced that in the greatest blow yet struck at Rabaul, Japanese base on the northern island of New Britain, 15 tons of bombs, including 2,000-pounders for the first time, were dumped squarely on the Vunakanau airfield during daylight Friday. One Allied plane was lost in this assault on the principal Japanese air base in New Britain, but seven out of 20 defending Japanese Zeroes were destroyed.

At the same time Allied medium bombers hurled 2,000-pound bombs on the Japanese base at Lae, New Guinea.

AMERICAN PLANES RAID CANTON DOCKS

CHUNGKING, Aug. 8.—(AP)—American planes inflicted extensive damage on White Cloud airbase, docks and harbor buildings and destroyed several Japanese planes in a raid on Japanese-held Canton this morning, Lieutenant General Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters announced.

The fighter-escorted bombers were challenged by at least nine Japanese fighters, but only after they already had dropped their bombs, said the communiqué. Two enemy planes were reported shot down and others destroyed around.

(The Japanese claimed five American bombers were driven away from the Canton airport and that two were shot down over Samshui, 30 miles to the west.)

The Chinese paper Tu Kung Pao paid this tribute to the American fliers, known here as "the sky dragons":

"They are sowing the seeds of hope in the people in occupied areas. They provide a stimulus for Chinese soldiers at the front and heighten the morale of our people behind the firing line."

"The American government and people can well recognize the fact that the United States army air force in China represents the maximum gain for the smallest price."

CLARK GABLE OFFERS FOR ARMY AIR CORPS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Actor Clark Gable said tonight he had offered his services to the army air corps three weeks ago and hoped to hear next week whether he would be accepted and in what capacity.

Gable said he had conferred with army air corps officials in Washington, D. C., and was awaiting a reply. He said he had not enlisted.

GAIENNE CLAIMS DOUBLE-CROSSING

Asserts Hebert, Backed By Old Regulars, 'Jimmie
Noe's Boy'

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 8.—(AP)—State Senator Aubrey Gaienne, Old Regular floor leader, charged in a statement today that his Old Regular organization here had "double-crossed" him in its endorsement of Representative F. Edward Hebert for reelection in the second district and declared he had no intention of withdrawing.

He recently announced as a candidate for congress in that district.

Calling Hebert "Jimmie Noe's boy" and declaring Noe had become "one of the dominant factors in my organization," Gaienne declared he had "stuck my neck out" many times for the Old Regulars and "it is pretty tough to sit by and be double-crossed for a first class in-and-out and double-crossing."

ARMY FLIER KILLED, FOUR OTHERS HURT

SHREVEPORT, La., Aug. 8.—(AP)—A second lieutenant was killed and four other army fliers were injured late today in the crash of a two-motored bomber 20 miles south of here.

Identity of the man killed was withheld by Barksdale Field authorities pending official notification of his nearest of kin.

First information was that the injured were two second lieutenants, a sergeant and a corporal. They were brought to a local hospital by the operator of a store near Friserson, five miles from the scene of the crash.

THINK SALES TAX TO BE REJECTED

Majority Of Both Committee
And Senate Said To Be Opposed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—(AP)—There were signs today that the senate finance committee would reject a proposed sales tax despite arguments of its supporters that it would meet the treasury's demand for a $2,500,000,000 increase in the new revenue bill voted by the house.

Although proponents said they would seek to force a vote on the question, an informed senator said an informal canvass showed sentiment preponderantly against the proposed levy both in committee and in the senate itself.

This senator, who asked not to be quoted by name, predicted that if the proposal were brought to the floor it would be defeated after a brief fight.

Two Republicans, Senators Taft of Ohio and Vandenberg of Michigan, have been the most outspoken advocates.

SEAMAN FLOATING ON HATCH COVER SAVED

AN EAST COAST PORT, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Spotted by a patrol plane, a seaman floating alone for two days on a hatch cover was rescued by his mates after their ship had been torpedoed and sunk, the navy announced today.

The ship, a medium-sized United States vessel, was attacked by a submarine in mid-July several hundred miles off the Atlantic coast of South America.

Survivors reaching here said C. D. McMaster, an oiler, was blown overboard by the explosion. When the plane sighted him it flew to nearby lifeboats, dropped a message giving directions and in two hours he was aboard one of the lifeboats.

The 39 survivors sailed six days through squalls and heavy rainstorms until a United States merchant vessel rescued them.

NINTH SHIP LAUNCHED

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The Delta shipyards here today launched its ninth ship, the Jonathan Groat, a 10,000-ton vessel named after a Revolutionary war hero and member of the first congress of the United States. Sponsor was Mrs. Stuart A. Johnson, whose husband is an official in the United States maritime commission's regional office.

BOMBAY, Sunday, Aug. 9.—(AP)—The British government of India, accepting the challenge of the All-India Congress party in entrusting a campaign of civil disobedience to Mohandas K. Gandhi, early today began a roundup of Congress leaders in the city of Ahmedabad.

The government acted just a few hours after the full committee of the All-India Congress party had handed complete authority to the mystic 72-year-old leader of the India Nationalist movement for a drive aimed at forcing an end to British rule in India. Seventeen arrests had been made up to early hours today in Ahmedabad. They were the first reported after the Congress committee adjourned.

The government has placed a ban on gatherings of more than five persons, issuing the order under the criminal procedure code.

In a statement at New Delhi, the government reply to the Congress party's resolution said:

"There is nothing the government of India regrets more than this challenge at so critical a juncture but on them lies the task of defending India—that task the government of India will discharge in the face of the challenge now thrown down by the Congress party with clear determination."

"I am pledged to the Congress and the Congress is pledged to do or die," Gandhi declared in concluding a two-

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 8.—(AP)—Orders for a grand jury probe of alleged election irregularities and an apparently clear-cut battle between state and federal forces today spurred interest in Tuesday's statewide Democratic primary.

Although only 169,000 out of 360,000 eligible voters participated in the preferential primary July 28, observers predicted the heated race between Attorney General Jack Holt and former Congressman John L. McClellan would bring out between 180,000 and 200,000 voters for the final vote.

Holt, backed by many high-ranking officials and employees of the state administration, and McClellan, supported by Senator Hattie W. Caraway and other federal forces, are seeking

DENNY RULED OUT OF JUDGE'S RACE

SHREVEPORT, La., Aug. 8.—(AP)—James A. Denny, Shreveport attorney, was disqualified as a candidate for Caddo parish district judge by action of the Caddo Parish Democratic committee at a meeting today.

The committee sustained a protest by Samuel P. Love, attorney, that Denny, who mailed his qualification papers to J. H. Mayfield, secretary of the committee, on Sunday afternoon, August 2, had failed to comply with the law governing filing of candidates for office.

Denny, through his counsel, Donald C. Dickson and James T. Jeter, announced they would, at the earliest possible moment, probably Monday morning, file suit in Caddo parish district court asking that a writ of mandamus directing the committee to qualify him be issued.

By Richard L. Turner

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Death by execution today snapped short the shadowy careers of six Nazi saboteurs, men who sneaked ashore from enemy submarines bent upon crippling the American war effort by fire, explosion and terrorism.

Two others, adjudged equally guilty by a military commission of seven generals, escaped the death penalty fixed by the law of war for their intended crimes, by tattle on the rest.

Because they helped the government prepare its case, they were given prison sentences, one for life, the other for thirty years, both at hard labor.

At noon, the first of the agents of destruction to pay with his life was led from a cell at the District of Columbia jail to its execution chamber. In grim succession the five others followed. The six were:

Heinrich Harm Heinck, Richard Quirin, Edward John Kerlin, Herbert Haupt, Werner Thiel and Hermann Gribel. The last, Ernest P. Burger, was sentenced to prison for life, and George John Dash was given a term of thirty years.

Just before 1:30, the White House, several miles away, announced that President Roosevelt had approved the findings and recommendations of the military commission and that the six had been executed. The record of the case, containing much information of an important military nature, it was said, would be sealed until after the war.

So, nearly two months after the arrival of the eight men on American shores, their cases were ended. They were closed, however, only after exhaustive legal proceedings, undreamed of in the dictator-ridden land from which they came. At no point an appeal for New Year's Day. Burger was taken to the civil courts, and the supreme court, meeting in a hurriedly summoned special session, upheld the legality and constitutionality of the method of trial which President Roosevelt had established.

The military commission finished its work last Sunday. On Monday, the record of the case, the sentences imposed and the recommendations for leniency to Burger and Dash were placed in the presidency's hands for review.

It became apparent today that he had affirmed the commission's verdict and sentences, and that at the jail operations were in progress for the executions. Reporters waiting outside the soldier-guarded building saw army chaplains and the District of Columbia coroner enter. After 11 o'clock all possible lights in the jail were kept extinguished.

Outside the jail a small crowd saw army ambulances enter the jail yard, presumably to remove the bodies. A group of young women, huddled under umbrellas on a nearby roof, could see over the wall.

On the sidewalk, an elderly grey-haired woman waited for four hours. She told reporters she had one son in the army, one in the navy. When

RED, BLUE FORCES RENEW HOSTILITIES

HEADQUARTERS THIRD ARMY,
SOMEWHERE IN LOUISIANA, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Red and Blue forces of Lieutenant General Walter Krueger's army aggressively resumed hostilities tonight on the second of their ten combat fronts.

Released from their "restricted lines" at 9 p. m., the two task forces immediately started operations under plans formulated by their commanders during the previous 24 hours from the reports received at headquarters of General Krueger, who is personally directing the field training. The opposing armies were using the cover of darkness to execute important tactical dispositions in preparation for major blows tomorrow.

Last tonight a report reached General Krueger that Red clashes were taking place in a dense, jungle-like section of the combat area between Red delaying elements and aggressive Blue reconnaissance patrols.

This would indicate that the Reds have obtained information that they are opposed by a strong Blue force that is striking for the key terrain near a neutral boundary. Intelligence reports indicate that artillery will play a decisive role in this fight and much long-range firing will probably take place today.

The Blues are commanded by Major General Dan I. Sultan and the Reds by Major General John C. Persons. Sullivan's chief of staff is Colonel George Barker and Persons is Colonel Alexander Paxton.

separated battle sectors of the Pacific ocean.

While only sparse information revealed the nature and extent of the operations, there were clear indications that an important turning point in the war in the Pacific has been reached and that an initial effort was being made to wrest from the Japanese some of the strategic areas they have seized.

The nature of the turning point was from a war of attrition to the dealing out of smashing blows to roll back Japanese lines.

These blows thus differed from the last February 1 United States naval raids on the Marshall and Gilbert islands and similar raids against the enemy on Wake and Marcus islands and in the Solomon Islands, such as the Tulagi raid which preceded the Coral sea battle.

The Japanese made their initial landing at Papua in the Solomons January 23. Their heavy follow-up infiltrations in New Guinea and in the Solomons came March 8 to 10.

First landings by the Japanese in the Aleutians were early in June, coincident with the battle of Midway island, in which United States army, navy and marine corps forces turned back an enemy force of warships and transports.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—(P)—Striking suddenly and savagely at the north and south wings of Japan's advance into the Pacific ocean, the United States navy is hammering at enemy nests in the Solomon Islands off Australia and has assaulted Japanese invaders of Kiska island in the Aleutians, it was officially announced today.

Surface warships and aircraft took part in both operations, it was revealed, but the onslaught in the Solomons appeared to be the more important of the two strokes. While the blow aimed at the Japs in Kiska seemed to be in the nature of a short, sharp raid, a navy communiqué said the attack in the Solomons was "in force" and was still continuing.

There was a belief the navy was attempting to get the jump on the Japanese, who have been assembling forces in the Solomons and New Guinea recently, possibly in preparation for a drive on Australia or an all-out attempt to cut the supply lines running from the United States to the "down-under" continent.

The navy announcement coincided with word from General MacArthur's headquarters in Australia of new and intense bombings by Allied planes of enemy bases both in New Guinea and New Britain, the latter an island between the Solomons and New Guinea. This timing of the air-sea attack on the Japanese in the Solomons and the Allied air attacks north and west of the suggested joint and broad-scale action.

The Allied headquarters in Australia reported that 15 tons of bombs, including huge one-ton missiles, had been dropped during daylight on a big enemy airdrome at Rabaul in New Britain. Other bombers meanwhile dropped 2,000-pound bombs on the enemy base at Lae, New Guinea, and this was followed up by night raids. Along with these military developments came new warning from official Australian sources that the Japanese would attempt invasion of the commonwealth. Army Minister Francis M. Forde said in an address that "we are face to face with a great crisis in our history."

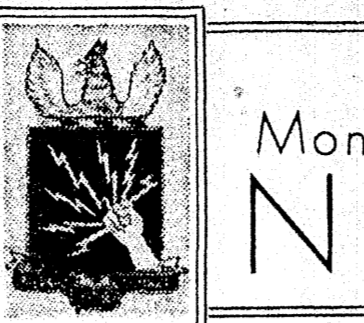

The navy's communiqué at Washington was sparse in details, although more was expected later. It said: "North and south Pacific areas."

"1. United States naval and other forces have attacked enemy installations in the southeast part of the Solomon Islands in force and the attacks are continuing.

"2. Simultaneously, United States naval forces bombarded enemy ships and shore establishments at Kiska.

"3. No additional information is available at present."

Mechanisms of modern airplane instruments are finely machined. Working to one ten-thousandth of an inch or 1-25 the fineness of a human hair is not unusual in making the tiny gears of such equipment.

A few days ago Sergeant Thomas D. Grinter arrived here from Maxwell field for duty at the Army Air Forces Navigator school, with an inch-and-a-half cut under his right eye.

Two days earlier while playing softball at Maxwell field, he had been struck by a baseball bat.

The cut needed attention, and thus Sergeant Grinter became the first man to be treated in the temporary dispensary which has been set up out at the navigation school.

The dispensary is in one of the Capt. R. L. Mindlin hangers on the field, occupying a partitioned room about seven feet by ten feet. Its equipment at the moment includes a sterilizer, some instruments, bandages and adhesive, disinfectants, vaccines and medications.

And for a refrigerator a nearby soft drink dispensing machine has been pressed into service.

You can get treated there—if you're in uniform—for cuts, burns, bruises, broken bones and colds and minor ailments. In addition, the dispensary has been giving "shots" to officers and men who had begun their prescribed schedule of typhoid and tetanus toxoid inoculations before arriving at the field.

In emergencies, of course, the dispensary and its staff are available to whoever needs their services.

The dispensary is under the immediate supervision of Captain Rowland L. Mindlin of the medical corps. Captain Mindlin, a graduate of Harvard university and Harvard Medical college, is a native of New York City. In civilian life he specialized in pediatrics—care of children.

After graduation from medical school, Captain Mindlin engaged in research work at the Children's hospital in Boston, then did a 15-month hospital, also in the Hub City. From there he went to the Sydenham hospital in Baltimore as assistant resident for eight months, and thence to the Children's hospital of Michigan, in Detroit, as chief resident.

Getting back to Captain Mindlin's dispensary, this young institution is presided over by Private First Class Paul Schmidt of the post medical detachment, who worked for seven months in the base hospital at Maxwell field before coming to Monroe. Private Schmidt is on hand from 8 o'clock in the morning until 5 in the evening. If necessary he can reach Captain Mindlin or one of the other physicians on the post at a moment's notice.

And getting still further back to the case of Sergeant Grinter, the dispensary reports a complete recovery. The non-commissioned officer was treated by First Lieutenant Allen P. Newman, also of the medical corps, who is a graduate of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, Edinburgh, Scotland.

Lieutenant Newman took four stitches in the cut. Two days later he made the entry on the dispensary record, "No infection, sutures (stitches) removed."

Such was the happy ending of the first case on the dispensary's books.

Mention of the dispensary, which is the forerunner of the post hospital, brings to mind a kindred event of the past week—the arrival of the first ambulance at the school.

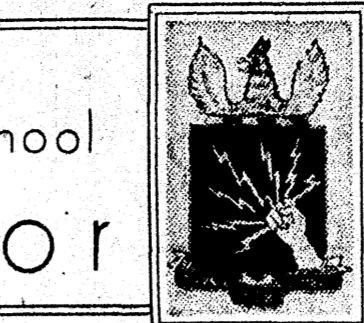

It's pretty much like any other ambulance, except that it's finished in olive drab and is built perhaps a little more ruggedly than is usually the case. In the center of each side is painted a two-foot red cross, superimposed on a white square, which stands out brightly against the dull background. The caduceus—insignia of the United States Army Medical corps—is also painted on the side of the vehicle.

It has a siren, too.

While officers are scurrying around Monroe in a frantic quest for apartments, navigation cadets will find them when they arrive on the field.

The cadets can thank Colonel Norris B. Harbold, the school's commanding officer.

The colonel took a hand personally in arranging for the partitioning of the cadet barracks into apartments. An apartment consists of a living room and two sleeping rooms. One sleeping room, about 15 feet on a side, will accommodate two cadets, and the second, about 15 feet by 25 feet, will accommodate three more. All the occupants of the apartment will have the use of its living room, which is about 15 feet by 25 feet, for study and relaxation.

Lieutenant Einhorn has had top-flight experience for his job. He was graduated in 1941 from Texas A. and M. with the degree of Doctor of Veterinary Medicine. He engaged in private practice in La Grange, Tex., and worked for the better part of a year with the Bureau of Animal Industries of the Department of Agriculture.

He has passed the civil service examination which entitles him to practice veterinary medicine. He is a member of the American Veterinary Medical association.

The lieutenant's army career began with training in the United States Army Veterinary Corps Training school at Kansas City, Mo., where he received special instruction in food inspection.

The lieutenant was born May 24, 1919, in Passaic, N. J. He attended Pasie High school and studied for the seat held by Senator Lloyd Spencer of Hope, an interim appointee ineligible to succeed himself.

The two were separated by only 407 votes in the preferential election which United States District Attorney C. R. Barry of Fort Smith announced would be investigated. Barry said the ordered probe was based on reports of irregularities in Garland county where the strong political following of Hot Springs Mayor Leo P. McLaughlin gave Holt 3,836 vote to 374 for McClellan, 141 for Congressman Dave Terry and 133 for Congressman Clyde Ellis.

McLaughlin, veteran of many political battles at the resort city, declined comment.

Supporting McClellan along with Mrs. Caraway are Ellis, Terry and State Director J. J. Harrison of the office of government reports who broke a ten-year political alliance with Governor Homer M. Adkins over the otherwise issueless contest. Adkins, who has made no public statement on the senate race, maintained silence today.

Little Rock newspapers interpreted the state-federal line-up as a prelude to the 1944 senatorial campaign at which Adkins might oppose Mrs. Caraway. The governor was renominated for a second term July 28 by

The Democrats also will nominate two congressmen, an attorney, general, state auditor, land commissioner and three supreme court judges.

In the second district, Congressman Wilbur Mills is opposed for a third term by O. B. Robbins, Heber Springs banker. In the third district, former President J. W. FIVE ARE ARRESTED IN ALLEGED 'DOPE RING'

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 8.—(P)—P. A. Williams, agent in charge of the local office of the federal bureau of narcotics, announced today the arrest of five men in connection with investigation into an organization he described as a major local "dope ring."

Williams said more than 5,000 marijuana cigarettes and 10 pounds of bulk marijuana were seized, most of it in an automobile in which one of the men was arrested.

The federal agent said Raymond Terrio, 37, was charged before United States Commissioner R. H. Carter, Jr., with violating United States narcotics laws and the four other men were charged later.

He listed them as Roman Davidson, 38; Avvin Vickman, 30; Earl Vanney, 32; and Clarence Cefain, 32.

DEFENSE POLICE HOLD MANEUVERS

Few Citizens Aware When Auxiliary Group Completely Mobilized

Few citizens of the Twin Cities, wending their way to a movie or burying themselves behind a newspaper for a quiet evening at home Friday night, knew that all around them over 100 police ran rampant.

It was the first complete mobilization of the auxiliary police and it was carried out in a silent, efficient manner. In less than 40 minutes the police had assembled, performed their assigned maneuvers and reported to Coordinator John Fox and Chief of Police Frank V. Reitzell in the control room at the city hall.

Fifteen squad cars covered the two cities from end to end, operating on planned routes. Numerous traffic patrolmen assumed their positions at key points, and members of the highway patrol under the direction of State Police Captain Rex Ensminger made runs to key positions on highways outside the cities where incoming traffic would be stopped in an emergency.

The riot squad acted on three theoretical calls, dashing from the power plant to the pumping station and thence to the Brown Paper mill in West Monroe.

West Monroe auxiliary police were under the direction of Chief of Police Jeff Caldwell but their reports were made to the central control room along with the others.

Men stationed in the control room, hub of the maneuvers, faced a huge map of the two cities which showed them at all times where every auxiliary policeman was during the alert. Routes were checked off as reports were telephoned in.

For this first general alert, auxiliary police wore their armbands and badges but carried no weapons. Few were absent and all who were had valid excuses. Men were determined to demonstrate to Twin City citizens that they would have complete police protection in the event of a black-out emergency.

TIRE MILEAGE TEST PLANNED

Tire Life Indicator Demonstration To Be Held Monday Morning

The Esso Marketers have developed a method of evaluating the life of a set of tires which, with a radically new tire program, will give America's motorists much more mileage than was hitherto considered possible, according to tire experts.

In making this announcement, J. M. McBride, Esso Marketers representative, said the company was rushing training of Esso dealers in the use of the new tire life indicator. He pointed out that the national interest makes it urgent that everything be done as speedily as possible to conserve tires. As a public test of the new method Mayor H. H. Benoit has estimated that he has 15,000 miles left in his tires before he starts walking. The new Esso Marketers test will be made at Saul Adler's Monday at 9 a. m. to see how closely his guess approximates the potential mileage left and to explain how maximum mileage can be gotten under the new method.

"America's motorists do not know how much mileage they have in their tires," Mr. McBride said. "They may know how much mileage they have in each tire, but they have been unable to know how far all these tires will take them. The new Esso Marketers tire life indicator, for the first time, gives this vitally important information." Citing a typical case, Mr. McBride said: "A motorist may have five tires, with an estimated mileage in each tire and his spare of 11,000, 7,000, 5,000, 4,500 and 4,000 miles. What is his set of tires? 4,000 miles, 7,000 miles or 4,500 miles? How can he get it? Until the development of this new system of estimating tire life and the best method of getting it, it is impossible to tell."

"Esso Marketers believe that the necessity of keeping this motor-minded nation rolling is so important to the war effort that we have asked Mayor Benoit to take part in this public test to dramatize the possibilities of the new method."

FIELD ON CHECK CHARGE
Members of the sheriff's department arrested Alfred D. Wynne Saturday morning on charges of issuing a check without sufficient funds. W. A. Cotton, who swore out the warrant, said that Wynne gave the check to the Circle 5 service station May 23 for $5, drawn on the Ouachita National bank. Wynne's bond has been fixed at $250.

The News-Star-World carrier-salesmen held their regular monthly meeting at Hotel Frances Thursday. The annual election was held and officers were elected as follows: President, Lowell Wood; first vice-president, Charles Hargrove; second vice-president, J. E. Various talks were made by members of the club, topics being: "The History of the Newspapers" by J. E. Jones; "The Importance of Selling War Bonds and Stamps," by Hodge Simms; "The Society and the Editorial Pages of a Newspaper" by John Worsham; and "What the Sport Page Contains," by Jimmy Hobbs.
A sales demonstration was given by Jack Hollaway and Ernst Grafton. H. B. Murdoch, circulation manager, highly praised the carrier-salesmen on selling bonds and stamps. He also mentioned several outstanding carriers who had sold more stamps than any other carriers in the organization. Those mentioned were: Lawrence Colburn, Joe Johnson, and E. E. Sherrard. There are also others who have made outstanding records.

Red Front Drive

The Soviet is intensely eager to have the British and Americans open up a second European front.

Every news story that comes from Moscow is filled with propaganda for such a development. The old cocksure spirit is gone. Day after day we are told that the Russians are doing the best they can, but they are outnumbered, outgunned, and facing disaster.

Now and then we are reminded that the morale of soldiering in the ranks is suffering as they ask each other sadly: "Where are our allies? Where is that second front?"

Nobody can blame the Soviet for this propaganda drive to force our hand. The Russians have put up a marvelous defense against Hitler's armies. With their blood they have given to England and the United States a new lease on life.

They are entitled to expect that we will do everything we can to relieve them in their distress, for our sakes as much as for theirs.

That, however, is no excuse for American Communists and fellow travelers who are playing the game of a foreign nation here today, even as they played the game of a foreign nation while Russia was Hitler's ally and, therefore, our undeclared enemy.

Timed so accurately that the theory of coincidence is strained, a group of known Red Fronters held a rally in New York, heralded with large advertisements in the daily press "to support the president for the opening of a second front now."

The rally was sponsored by the Greater New York Industrial Union Council, C. I. O., with Joseph Curran as president and Saul Mills secretary. The featured speakers included some non-Communists plus Curran and the leader of the pro-Communist wing of the American Labor party, Congressman Vito Marcantonio.

These were the same leaders who bitterly opposed every move to prepare American defenses against Hitler up to the day Der Fuehrer invaded Russia, and who thereupon became most vociferous advocates of war.

At the same time men and women, some recognizable as old-line Communist party workers, began distributing in the subways and streets postcards, addressed to the president, pledging support of "your second front agreement" and adding: "It is needed now without further delay. I see danger to victory unless the western front is opened immediately."

Here is an obvious attempt by a thoroughly discredited element to stampede President Roosevelt into action, timed perfectly to coincide with the drive of a foreign government to that same end.

It should be ignored.

Nobody is more aggressive or impatient of delay, in such matters, than Franklin Roosevelt and Winston Churchill. Their records are replete with proof that the second front we all want will be opened the first moment it has any slightest chance of success.

Messrs. Roosevelt and Churchill need no prodding. They need no printed postcard assurances that their countries are with them. All they need is the ships, the planes, the other armament and munitions.

Let our Red Front concentrate on helping to provide weapons. Let them leave war strategy to democracy-minded leadership.

RUBBER INQUIRY

The confusion about rubber is becoming unbearable. There are so many conflicting stories that nobody knows what to believe. Everybody has a pet cure for the shortage, and loudly damns those who prefer some other palliative. Meanwhile synthetic rubber production preparations are lagging.

The time has come for an unbiased, intelligent inquiry into all the facts, on the basis of which immediate, energetic action should be started. It is too bad that Chief Justice Stone should not have proven available. Somebody of his caliber, with his command over public confidence, is needed badly. None of the interested agencies will do. If Mr. Justice Stone cannot be induced to change his mind, how about former Justice Hughes?

DEFERMENT PUBLICITY

Outraged by draft dodging under cover of faked dependencies, New York's Mayor LaGuardia wants the selective service act amended so that the reason for all deferments will become public property.

We sympathize with the Little Flower's sentiment, and with reservations we believe such publicity is desirable.

But we do have reservations. We do not believe the full details of any man's personal economics should be offered to public curiosity until and unless he has been proven guilty of some crime. The size of one's mortgage, one's savings accounts, one's life insurance are the government's business, not the neighbors'. Some dependents are sensitive. Must the world be told of their hard luck?

JIMMIE FIDLER BELIEVE IT OR NOT In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 8. — Nearer marriage than Linda Darnell and press agent Alan Gordon (recorded elsewhere) are Linda Darnell and Cameraman Peverell Marley. Linda Basquette's ex, Leslie Fenton, has been given the D. S. O. for daring and skill in action during the St. Nazaire raid. . . . RKO is dickering with Grace Moore for a film operetta.

Ann Sheridan and George Brent have taken a beach house for a month or so; what became of his plan to "dick" Jack La Rue, separated from his wife, is confabbing with Mae West about the lead in her new picture. . . . Melvyn Douglas has turned down bids to run for congressman from California; he's campaigning for Will Rogers, Jr., instead.

Reason Frances Langford didn't take that phone for Alaska army camp is that she faces a major operation. Columnists credited Deanna Durbin with a win over Universal, but she fired her chief advisor before returning to the studio. . . . Remember comic Harry Green? He gets a comeback role in "Something To Shout About."

Paramount is worried over 17-year-old Susan Foster's "front" with young actor William Stroud; it's her first and serious! . . . It's been four-nights-in-a-row for Nancy Kelly and stage actor Bill Ely. . . . It's been more-than-four-nights-in-a-row for Julie Bishop and screen heavy Roland Drew. . . . HOW'S YOUR WAR BOND COLLECTION GROWING?

If the Jimmy Ritzes haven't split, they're giving a darn good imitation. . . . Two hours before a dinner party for 100 guests, the Basil Rathbone's kitchen staff quit; a rush call to a local catering company saved face. . . . MGM has inked comedian "Happy" Felton to co-star with Red Skelton in "Du Barry Was a Lady," ads will read "Skelton and Felton." Bert Lahr, who did the stage play, is out of the movie version.

Preview Nights: Pic of the Week: Columbia's "The Talk of the Town" (Cary Grant-Jean Arthur-Ronald Colman). Will be the talk of every town it plays. Recommended: Universal's "Pardon My Sarong" (Abbott and Costello). The boys throw a restraint to the winds in their most laughable comedy. . . . Universal's "Invisible Agent" (Hona Massey-Jon Hall-Peter Lorre). Leave your sense of logic at home and bring your sense of humor for this spy thriller. . . . RKO's "Orchestra Wives" (Danielle Darrieux-Anton Walbrook). Poor production and all-French dialogue are offset by a good story and woe acting. . . . Just So-So: Monogram's "Riders of the West." Buck Jones and his pals ride up to sleep.

Laugh of the Week: Eddie Albert's story about the very sick man whose doctor called in a brace of other physicians for a consultation. Anxious to know his true condition, and foreseeing that the medical world adjourn to the next room for discussion, the man bribed a little boy to hide in a closet, listen, and bring him a detailed report. All went as planned, except that the lad wore a puzzled expression when he returned to the patient's bedside. "Well, speak up," ordered the invalid. "What did they say?" "I couldn't understand the big words," admitted the boy, "but I did get one sentence. They said 'We'll find that out at the autopsy.'"

Confidential Communications to: That odd service, business in Spokane, Wash., that spots mispronunciations on radio shows and offers to give the speakers corrections at 10c per error: The fact that you heard only nine mistakes on one of my recent Sunday night shows is encouraging. I used to average 15. . . . Bette Davis: When Hollywood learns that you're making maple sugar on your New England farm, your popularity will soar. Producers Bill Thomas and Bill Pine: Your general use of oldtime stars in your pictures is commendable. Signing Sylvia Sydney for "Tornado" is also smart. . . . Lana Turner and Stephen Crane: Do you know that after your marriage in Las Vegas, you forgot to pay the $18 wedding chapel fee?

Odd-Formation: Charlie McCarthy's laundry bill runs about $800 a year. Eddie (Rochester) Anderson's phone number has a "Rochester" prefix. In his 40 years on the stage Eddie Cantor estimates that he has blacked his face 30,000 times. Although George Sanders was married in Hollywood's biggest church, news of it remained a secret for two years. Bud Abbott's new right club is on Costello avenue. Rotund Eugene Pallette broke into the show business, at the age of 19, as an actor. Nelson Eddy was once ambitious to be an artist and still has over 2,000 of his early drawings. Quiz kids note: William Lundigan entered Syracuse university at the age of fifteen.

Rudy Vallee is a subtle man. En route to the San Diego marine base with Marjorie Reynolds for a guest turn, Rudy tried to persuade Marjorie to do a dance routine, instead of giving the boys a speech. She demurred, and told Rudy the prize joke she intended to tell. But the wily Vallee, while introducing Miss Reilly, told her to tell the joke. Left laughing and dry, she could only fall back on her dancing, with which she was pleased the boys.

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

Part of every job is cleaning up afterward. Little children have to learn that part of the business too, and sometimes difficulty arises between them and the older person in charge.

Older people know that children must be trained to pick up after themselves, clean their workshop, leave a trim job behind them. What they do not know is that cleaning up is a job in its own right. Often it is more labor to clean the workshop after the job is done than to do the job itself.

And cleaning up has a technique of its own that must be mastered. Little children work hard when they do any kind of task. Their play calls for muscular adjustments, skills, decisions, that are new to them. They have to make an effort to fit two bits of board, to tie a knot, to arrange a number of things in a neat order.

Although we call their business play it is for them, what we would call work. At the end of their playtime they are too tired to start all over again and work at cleaning up. That is why parents have trouble making Tommy pick up things and put his playthings in neat order. Tommy is tired out before cleaning up time comes.

Have a few things out as possible. If many different bits of stuff are to be used keep putting some away as the work proceeds, on the principle that what is not out need not be put in. Stop well ahead of the end of the play hour so as to allow time and strength for the cleaning up. Then help with it.

Don't feel that you are indulging a child by helping him clean up his workshop. Give him a hand. Begin by saying, "Let's get some of these things away now. I'll pick up these big fellows. You hand me the little ones." There, you set those on the shelf. I'll put these up. We will get the place straightened out in no time. All set? You close the door and there we are.

Cooperation is better than supervision anytime and a child who is helped in putting his things away will leave his task in better spirit than the one who is told to pick up his things and tidy up, all by himself. Be sure to have a place for the things once they are picked up. Don't let it be overcrowded. When the shelves are so full that opening the door is at the risk of your head it is time to clean out the closet, sort the stuff and give away what is not needed. That will be another fine chore for the young person who owns the lot.

Give the children things that make cleaning easy. A little broom is a temptation to its use. All children love to sweep. A toy dustpan, a dust cloth, a little carpet sweeper and a mop, all in miniature, are things all children love to use, and cleaning is the time to bring them out.

Let the little ones help in the house clean-up, too. Mothers find it easier to do the work themselves, of course, but that does not teach the little ones to be useful, to use disorder and to right it, to keep busy at useful occupation, and to grow a seasoned, well-trained body for use in the time of emergency.

The best way to learn anything is still the old way. Do it. Give the children a helping hand, encourage them; plan for the cleaning-up time; give them the place and the time and the tools, and you train them for usefulness, resourcefulness and self-help.

Sunday School Lesson

Sunday School Lesson For August 16
Text: Genesis 26:18-31
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.
(Editor of Advance)

Sons do not always inherit or manifest the good qualities of their fathers. But Isaac, the son of Abraham, in one respect at least, emulated his father Abraham in his love of peace and in the practical way in which he sought it.

We have seen how, when there was strife between the herdsmen of Lot and Abraham, Abraham magnanimously gave Lot his choice of the country so that there might be no strife. As it turned out, Lot made a bad choice in his greedy self-interest, and in choosing the fertile land toward Sodom he became involved in that city's downfall.

Isaac prospered so greatly that his enemies evidently became alarmed, and they went to him seeking to establish a covenant, Isaac accepted their proposal and they went from him in peace.

It is a good thing, in days of wartime like these, to read and study a story of peace and how one man by his self-sacrificing attitude brought it about, even when enemies were trying to use him shamefully. Not all instances reported in the Bible have turned out so well. There were times when the Israelites had to fight their enemies relentlessly, just as we are compelled today to fight against ruthless aggressors who would destroy the very foundations of our life. Nevertheless, it is well to remember that there have been many occasions when good has overcome evil, and although aggressors have to be stopped, good is the only force that ultimately can overcome evil.

If there had been more Abrahams and Isaacs in the world, we would not have had the long history of devastating wars, and men would have learned to live together under covering of peace. The present war will not have a successful issue unless it does result in new covenants of peace between nations.

But we need more than covenants. We need the character that keeps them, and that sort of character is not found among those who destroy wells. The diggers of wells, the builders of civilizations, the protectors of peace and prosperity are to have their place in humanity's future.

More Rationing
OPA leans toward the idea that the middle west, east of the Mississippi river at least, should be rationed on gasoline and fuel oil so as to share their supply with the stricken seaboard states, but OPA is against this.

OPA wanted to permit the eastern states oil dealers to raise their prices on petroleum products a couple of cents a gallon to make up for the higher transportation costs, but the southeastern states' congressmen made loud claims of objection.

The coming, almost inevitable crisis in fuel oil for the 17 eastern seaboard states is going to make all past crises on price control, wage control, gas rationing, sugar rationing and synthetic rubber production look like Sunday school picnic. This may sound like a lot of alarmist spreading in the old confusion, but it can probably be traced back to the one fundamental difficulty experienced with every phase of the war effort that has gone wrong—too many conflicting agencies trying to run things, too much division of authority. In a town so full of co-ordinators and liaison officers that they're easier to count yourself to sleep with than sheep, there is no one in clear, undisputed control of this fuel oil problem, so the prospects are excellent that this, like every other administrative conflict, will eventually have to be rolled back to the president for solution.

Currently, five government agencies have their fingers in the fuel oil barrel, not counting the army, the navy and the lend-lease administration who have first call on all petroleum products.

First is the War Production Board—Donald Nelson and company—which is supposed to issue directives to other agencies, telling them what to do about any given shortage or critical material.

Second is the Office of Price Administration—Leon Henderson and company—which has the power not only to set the price on fuel oil, but also to ration it.

IN WASHINGTON

By Peter Edson
Monroe Morning World Washington

The coming, almost inevitable crisis in fuel oil for the 17 eastern seaboard states is going to make all past crises on price control, wage control, gas rationing, sugar rationing and synthetic rubber production look like Sunday school picnic. This may sound like a lot of alarmist spreading in the old confusion, but it can probably be traced back to the one fundamental difficulty experienced with every phase of the war effort that has gone wrong—too many conflicting agencies trying to run things, too much division of authority. In a town so full of co-ordinators and liaison officers that they're easier to count yourself to sleep with than sheep, there is no one in clear, undisputed control of this fuel oil problem, so the prospects are excellent that this, like every other administrative conflict, will eventually have to be rolled back to the president for solution.

Currently, five government agencies have their fingers in the fuel oil barrel, not counting the army, the navy and the lend-lease administration who have first call on all petroleum products.

First is the War Production Board—Donald Nelson and company—which is supposed to issue directives to other agencies, telling them what to do about any given shortage or critical material.

Second is the Office of Price Administration—Leon Henderson and company—which has the power not only to set the price on fuel oil, but also to ration it.

Third is the Office of Defense Transportation—Joseph B. Eastman and company—charged with moving fuel oil as well as everything else when and where it is needed, to the best of its ability.

Fourth is the Defense Supplies Corporation—in the Reconstruction Finance Corporation—Uncle Jesse, Jones and company. This is the only outfit with any money and therefore the only one that can consider paying subsidies to oil dealers to reimburse them for losses incurred when they have to pay higher transportation costs to get oil by rail into the eastern seaboard area so as to sell it below maximum prices set by the Office of Price Administration.

Fifth and finally there is the Office of the Petroleum Coordinator for War—Harold L. Ickes and company—which controls production of all petroleum products. Through its decree that no fuel oil can be sold to consumers in the eastern seaboard area between August 3 and September 15, OPA has actually taken over control of distribution, though that would seem to be the function of OPA.

Actually, the conflict between these agencies runs much deeper than that. OPA wants to build a pipeline from the mid-continent fields to the eastern seaboard, instead of just as far as Salem, Ill. WPA says the steel can't be spared and won't allocate it.

OPA is ready and willing to ration fuel oil any time WPA tells it to, but OPA is against rationing, although Co-ordinator Ickes declares that even if every bus, truck, taxicab and passenger car in the eastern seaboard were taken off the highways for the entire month of January and February, existing fuel oil transportation facilities still could not meet the normal requirements of the 1,500,000 dwellings in this area, heated by fuel oil.

More Rationing
OPA leans toward the idea that the middle west, east of the Mississippi river at least, should be rationed on gasoline and fuel oil so as to share their supply with the stricken seaboard states, but OPA is against this.

OPA wanted to permit the eastern states oil dealers to raise their prices on petroleum products a couple of cents a gallon to make up for the higher transportation costs, but the southeastern states' congressmen made loud claims of objection.

NEW YORK—Diary: A series of hot, humid days has taken the zip out of almost everybody. . . . We need good news from the Aleutians to pep up the customers, at least here in New York. . . . Lenda Tracy Hanks writes from Middleboro, Mass., that her black cocker, Flip, eats asparagus right off the roots, in the garden, and loves it. . . . Our Jones likes his asparagus cooked, but eats onions and oranges raw. . . . A brief visit with Savant Bernard Sobel in a midtown cafe, and I find that he is deeply interested in Hindustani and the lore of the Yogi. . . . After a whirl at the revenge motif in Shakespeare, where, in I found myself far out of my depth, we turned to discussion of the weather.

Fatal motor accidents at night are increasing rapidly in New York. A recent 30-day period turned up twice as many deaths from such accidents as the preceding period of the same length.

This is due to the dimout, and particularly to the dimming of traffic lights. On the traffic stop-and-go lights the dimmers seem to have done too good a job. All of the lenses has been painted out except a tiny cross, hardly visible from the middle of the street.

The green is ineffective in daytime, and both colors are too faint at night. Though traffic has thinned perceptibly, so much of it runs through the unseen warning lights that collisions are growing more and more common. For the first time within my memory it's really dangerous to drive at night on New York streets.

In some of the suburbs, there has been no dimming of traffic lights, but thousands of them have been discontinued. The theory is that traffic is so light that stop-and-go lights are not needed.

This seems to cause fewer accidents than the dimming used in New York City. A fine, sensible-looking working man made a fool of himself inside an outside of the Little Bar, at Sardi's, in the theater area, the other night. The bar is just inside the window, and has accommodations for only a few persons. From the sidewalk a passer-by may see and hear everything that is going on.

This man, with his wife, stepped in and ordered "Sorry," said the bartender, "but I against the rules to serve anyone without a coat."

"Who says so?" roared the big fellow, who had had a little too much at some other bar.

"The boss. The fellow who pays it wages and the taxes here."

JOHN W. ANDREWS IS NOW SERGEANT

John W. Andrews, son of Edwin Andrews of Monroe, is wearing stripes of a sergeant, after his promotion at the New Orleans army base.

His promotion was by order of Colonel J. H. Houghton, base commander of the southern air field. It cited Sergeant Andrews "has proved able to perform technical duties, is attuned to duty and has demonstrated solid qualities."

Before enlisting in the army, Sergeant Andrews attended Ouachita Parish High school.

MESS SERVES FIRST CUSTOMERS

Shortly after noon Saturday, the first mess to be cooked and served at Monroe's Army Air Forces Navigation school was consumed with great relish in one of the huge messhalls on the field. Colonel Norris B. Harbold, commanding officer, gave official color to the occasion by dining at the mess with some of his staff officers. A second dessert is enjoyed by Private First Class Joe W. Mon, of the medical detachment, shown above.

First Meal Served To Troops At Air School

VOLUNTEER GIVEN SPEEDY SEND-OFF

WACO, Tex., Aug. 8.—(AP)—A 17-year-old walked into the navy recruiting office and exclaimed: "I want to fight. The sooner I get off the better I will like it."

In exactly 28 minutes Henry Janex from the tiny Mt. Clam community had his orders and was on his way to the main recruiting office in Dallas.

The whole recruiting office cooperated in the send-off—one man gave him a physical, another obtained his parent's consent and a third made out the orders.

AVIATION CADET KILLED

SELMA, Ala., Aug. 8.—(AP)—Aviation Cadet Wiley M. Dunn, of Austin, Texas, was killed today when his plane crashed 17 miles west of Selma while on a routine training flight. Member of class 42-H at Craig Field the body is being held here pending completion of funeral arrangements.

Saturday Is Milestone For Air Forces Here As Boys 'Move In'

Saturday marked a milestone in the history of Monroe's Army Air Forces Navigation school.

For the first time, the accommodations for troops which have been springing up on the erstwhile empty expanse of Selman airport were put to use.

Yesterday for the first time one of the huge messhalls echoed to the clatter of dishes and the conversation of men at dinner.

Last night for the first time, soldiers of the Army Air Forces tenanted the hitherto silent barracks buildings which have been waiting to receive them.

Without fuss or flutter, First Lieutenant William M. Kelley, the first post mess officer, served his initial meal at 12:30 o'clock yesterday midday.

The piece de resistance was baked ham, supported by Harvard beets, green peas and boiled potatoes. For dessert there were peaches and ice cream—both. Bread and butter and chocolate milk rounded out the repast.

The excellence of the food evoked unstinted praise for the labors of Lieutenant Kelley, who, no mean hand with a ladle, personally supervised the preparation of the meal. The lieutenant was assisted by Staff Sergeant George O. Smith, of the medical detachment, drafted for cooking service by force of necessity.

Other functions of culinary service, more familiarly known as kitchen police or K. P.—such as washing dishes—were performed by eight men taken from the same detachment. This jurisdictional anomaly is purely provisional, and has already been remedied by the arrival of appropriate personnel.

Next to the excellence of the fare, the feature of the meal most commented upon was the coolness and comfort of the high-ceilinged mess hall.

Another feature of the first mess was the presence of Colonel Norris B. Harbold, commanding officer of the post, and 14 of the officers of his staff.

No verbal comment was sought from the colonel, but an empty plate served as testimony to his reaction to the post's first mess.

The only civilian guest was Leon Noland, Jr., news photographer of the Monroe News-Star-World.

During the afternoon, the barracks area hummed with activity as the enlisted men set up their cots, wrestled with bedding and transferred personal belongings to their new accommodations.

The first of the many officers, cadets and men to move onto the post had taken up their quarters by sundown.

Miss Mae Meredith, Greenville To Marry Clyde Weldon Payne This Fall

Wedding Ceremony To Be Held At Greenville

Bride-Elect Attended Newcomb And L. S. U.; Mr. Payne Stationed At Air Field

Of paramount interest throughout north Louisiana and Mississippi is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pickett Reynolds of Greenville, Miss., of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Mae Meredith, to Clyde Weldon Payne, Jr., staff sergeant in the United States air force, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Weldon Payne of Monroe. The wedding will be solemnized in Greenville sometime in the early fall.

After graduating from the Greenville High school, Miss Reynolds attended Sophie Newcomb college and Louisiana State university. She was signally honored at the university where she received the Lambda award for being the most outstanding woman transfer student. She was a member of Phi Mu social sorority, Sigma Alpha Iota, national honorary music sorority, and Delta Gamma Delta, intersorority. She is active in the Greenville Garden club, of which she is a past president, and belongs to the Greenville Cotillion club.

Staff Sergeant Payne graduated from Neville High school, after which he attended Tulane university. He is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity. He also was a member of the Thirteen club, an honorary freshman interfraternity.

Following his enlistment, Sergeant Payne attended an air force technical school at Lowry Field, Denver, Colo., after which he was assigned to the Greenville army flying school, Greenville, Miss.

Staff Sergeant Payne's mother is the former Miss Delzora Donaud of New Orleans. He is the grandson of Mrs. Albert Louis Donaud and the late Albert Donaud, New Orleans, and of Dr. Ruffin Baker Payne and the late Mrs. Payne, Mandeville, La.

Miss Nan Drew is combining pleasure and work at Camp Joyelle in the Ozarks of Arkansas where she is serving as junior counselor. Among her numerous duties is giving instruction in photography and archery. In recent tennis tournaments she was declared winner in both singles and doubles. She also won first place in horseback riding. Next week her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Drew, will drive to Camp Joyelle and bring her back with them.

Miss Alva Love Chauvin and Miss Libby Ann Allen, both of Little Rock, arrived in Monroe last night to begin a visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Cooley.

Playgrounds Popular With Children Here

Before Miss Lucyle Godwin left for national Red Cross work at Camp Croft, she selected 10 leaders and a coordinator for the five playgrounds of Monroe for summer recreation.

Through the courtesy of Mr. E. L. Neville, superintendent of city schools, and members of the board, the recreation department is permitted the use of grammar school grounds and the auditoriums of these schools for community singing, folk dancing and rhythm orchestras.

In playground pioneering, nearly half a century ago, Monroe, then a small town, boasted one of the first 20 playgrounds in the United States that had equipment for children's recreation. This playground was on what is now the Central Grammar school.

In its school building program through the years, the city has provided large campuses with adequate equipment for recreational purposes. Here supervised recreation during the summer vacation came into existence. Prior to the opening of the playgrounds, a planning period was arranged for the staff that had been selected to work during the summer. Lectures on phases of recreation were followed by the leaders actively engaged in all these activities. They planned their own programs according to individual group interests and local facilities.

Agreeing with Angelo Patri that play is the chief business of childhood, a schedule was outlined to embrace physical, ethical, and spiritual training, and to furnish fun.

Included in this summer's program are athletics, quiet games, story telling, handicraft, community singing, folk dancing, rhythm band, and nature recreation. Special features comprise the flag-raising ceremony, portable library, "Commando club" for collecting defense material, and nature study. At schools where there are no flags, children observe a minute of silence each day at 11 a.m. City-wide special events include a victory parade for the promotion of defense, Joseph Lee day, a field day for efficiency tests and display of handicraft, community singing and picture show based upon colored pictures of the victory parade, dances for the "teen" age group, and competitive games in softball.

Some of the activities will be of permanent value to playgrounds. Children at Lida Benton and Barkdull Faulk schools are preparing bird guessing boards. Girls are pasting on pictures of birds while boys are wiring the boards with electricity. Also the students have made period dolls to be used as loans to various schools.

Playgrounds will close August 15, with special features on the Barkdull Faulk school campus at 7 p.m. with a program of folk dances, community singing and colored pictures of playground events projected on a screen. Children are already busy with needle, thread, scissors, and paste making costumes for the folk dances.

Concrete results of the local play movement may be estimated to some degree by reports of attendance. From June 15 to July 3 the aggregate attendance shows a record of 5,380, while the average daily attendance is computed at 353.3. From July 3 to July 31, the aggregate number was 6,628 and the average daily attendance 331.3.

Those in charge of recreation at various schools are: Sherouse, Mrs. E. J. Brown and Miss Eloise Cann; Georgia Tucker, Mrs. Grace Willard and Miss Annie Windes; Atkinson, Misses Eleona Brinsmade, Barbara Faulk, Genevieve Castles, Mrs. Virginia Butler and Mrs. Orris Rust; Lida Benton, Mrs. Mae Snapp and Mrs. Fannie Munholland; Miss Dolly Tichell supervises competitive games, and Mrs. Jessie Granberry coordinator of all activities at the different schools.

Miss Melba Edwards And Sergeant Watson Marry

Another Louisiana-Pennsylvania romance was culminated at Camp Livingston, La., last week when Miss Melba Edwards of Monroe was married to Sergeant David E. Watson of New Brighton, Pa. The ceremony was performed by Chaplain Harold T. Pruyn in the 11th infantry chapel. Carrying out an army tradition, the couple were driven in a jeep through the camp area immediately following the wedding.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Edwards, 328 North Fifth street, was employed by the Missouri Pacific railroad. Sergeant Watson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Watson of New Brighton, and prior to his entering the army he did clerical work in the Islay Dairy company, Beaver Falls.

The couple left for New Brighton where they will remain during the furlough granted Sergeant Watson.

Interest is centered in the announcement of the marriage of Miss Rena Clay Carpenter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Carpenter of Darnell, La., to Private Wiley Caswell Heath, July 21, at Lawton, Okla. Private Heath is in the artillery unit of the Officers' Candidate school, Fort Sill, Okla. Prior to his enlistment in the army he was associated with his father in the lumber business at Darnell.

Mrs. Heath, who is attending B. M. I., will continue to reside with her parents while her husband is in camp.

Beautiful flowers decorated the living room of Misses Helen and Mary Mills Hunt Friday evening when Miss Monique Coates entertained at bridge as a courtesy to Mrs. William E. Beach of Charleston, S. C.

Welcome Garden Club Meets At Local Park

Specimen And Flower Arrangements Placed On Tables Before Instructive Talks

The pavilion in Bernstein Park was a perfect setting for the August meeting of Welcome Garden club, as one of their projects is the beautification of this park. It proved to be such a delightful place for warm days that members voted to hold their September meeting there. Upon the table extending through the center of the summer-house were placed specimen and flower arrangements brought by club members. Outstanding among these were the white Philippine lilies in a white container and enormous red hibiscus in a brown lacquered basket.

The program was introduced by the following quotation from Joyce Kilmer: "One is nearer God's heart in a garden than any place on earth." The subject of the program, "Keep your garden gay with lilies," was opened by Mrs. W. D. Clark who discussed Guernsey and Day lilies. She said in part, "All that Guernsey lilies ask are to be placed in the soil. By watering now early blossoms may be produced, or if let alone the autumn rains and cool days will bring them into their full glory."

"There are 100 varieties of Day lilies which grow from six inches, to four or five feet, and may be had in yellow, pink, and lavender. Separate bulbs about every three years. In early spring or late fall, dig up clumps and shake apart instead of cutting."

Mrs. J. R. Wooten, in discussing Crinum and Guernsey Butterfly lilies, said, "The Crinum is a southern lily and blooms in late August or September. The Twelve Apostles is one variety of Crinum. The Guernsey or Butterfly lily prefers acid soil, semi-shade and much water. These white, lavender, and pink flowers make the best showing when grouped in front of evergreens."

Mrs. A. R. Butler displayed the Blackberry lily from her garden. It is a small, daisy-like, orange colored blossom with red dots. Following the blossom is a seed-pod resembling a blackberry from which plants will grow. From Mrs. D. F. Dennis' garden came the beautiful Speciosum Rubrum, native of Japan. The blossoms have large white reflex petals with red dots. They grow in clusters and are slightly drooping. They propagate at mother bulb and stem rooting bulbs.

Mrs. John Harper, in discussing the amaryllis, explained that it is a South African plant and is suited to a warm, dry climate. It does best in sandy loam, and may be potted or put in the ground. Use liquid manure to force blossoms. The common disease of the amaryllis is leaf scorch, which may be prevented or controlled to a large extent by soaking the bulbs in a solution of corrosive sublimate for one hour.

Mrs. H. V. Collins gave an interesting discussion on Madonna, Philippine, Regal, and Easter lilies. She said in part, "Hardy lilies are best planted in the fall. Easter bulbs are dormant now and should be transplanted. Prepare a deep, rich bed using well rotted manure and sand for drainage. When plants are up five to six inches apply bone meal. Some parishes in south Louisiana are growing fields of Easter lilies for the market. It is possible for our state

Books Dealing With Current Events Here

Emphasis on current world problems is very apparent in the kinds of books which are continually being requested in the Ouachita parish libraries. To meet these demands new titles have been added on the various theaters of war, European conditions, and personal war experiences.

The following information non-fiction titles are highly recommended: "Only the Stars Are Neutral," Quentin Reynolds; "Victory through Air Power," deSeversky; "The Last Time I Saw Paris," Elliot Paul; "Will Germany Crack?" Paul Hagen; "Europe in Revolt," Rene Kraus; "General Douglas MacArthur," Francis Miller; "Russians Don't Surrender," Polakoff; "MacArthur on War," Frank Waldrop; "Moscow War Diary," Alexander Werth; "Washington Is Like That," Kiplinger; "Confusion on the Potomac," Bargerion; "How Japan Plans to Win," Matsuo; and "Valor of Ignorance," Homer Lea.

In "Only the Stars Are Neutral" Quentin Reynolds, one of America's great reporters, tells his story of the winter of 1941-42 in Moscow and what Washington means to the United States in total war.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Marc Meeng of Michigan, are located at 5014 K Street where they are making their home great reports, tells his story of the winter of 1941-42 in Moscow and what Washington means to the United States in total war.

Kubyshev. He gives a breath-taking account of the people he met (including a dinner with Stalin) and of how he flew in the "lost" plane with the Lutinoff and Ambassador Steinhardt from Russia to Libya, arriving just in time to get the story of the British attack against Rommel.

"Will Germany Crack?" by Paul Hagen is a factual report about the underground movement in Germany. He discusses the reaction of the people toward the tremendous loss of life, the undermourishment, the growing fear of inflation and insecurity, and why Japan came to Germany's aid.

Another interesting book is Kiplinger's "Washington Is Like That," in which he describes the most important city in the world—and certainly one of the most exciting today. The book is filled with revealing details, descriptions of well-known personalities in the city, and every page emphasizes what Washington means to the United States in total war.

The marriage of Miss Dorothy Hudson Bridger, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Dixon Bridger, and Aviation Cadet William Ray Eglin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Davis Eglin of Grayson, was solemnized in a quiet ceremony at the home of the bride's parents in Columbia, Saturday evening, August 1, at seven o'clock. Only intimate friends and close relatives were in attendance.

The marriage vows were exchanged beneath the archway leading from the living room, with Rev. W. H. Carroll, pastor of the Grayson Methodist church, and Rev. W. R. Wentz of the Columbia church officiating in the impressive double ring ceremony. The traditional bridal theme of white was carried out in the arrangement of flowers and candles, creating a lovely and appropriate background.

While the guests were assembling, a concert of bridal music was played by Mrs. Nina Redditt Harris, who also accompanied Mr. J. D. Caldwell as he sang "I Love You Truly."

As the strains of the wedding march were heard, the bride, attired becomingly in a white eyelet pique afternoon model, worn with a corsage of pink carnations, entered on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. Miss Clydeene Smith Marries Files Binion

Two Prominent Morehouse Parish Families United In Wedding At El Dorado

Members of two well-known Morehouse parish families were united in marriage when Miss Clydeene Hart Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Esther Smith of Bastrop, became the bride of Thomas Files Binion, son of Will Binion and the late Mrs. Binion of Oak Ridge, Sunday, August 2. An uncle of the bride, the Reverend Thomas Clyde Hart, officiated at the wedding which took place at 4 o'clock in the afternoon at his home in El Dorado, Ark.

The reception suite where members of the two families and intimate friends gathered was decorated with yellow roses rising from banks of fern.

Miss Geneva Baker, El Dorado, sang "Ain't Sweet Mystery of Life" and "Ave Maria" in a brief pre-nuptial concert and was accompanied on the piano by Miss Juanita Beebe.

The strains of the "Wedding March" from "Lohengrin" heralded the entrance of the wedding party. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Rose Lynn Smith, who wore a white eyelet embroidered frock with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. The groom was attended by John Letard of Bastrop.

Wearing a brown chiffon gown with a fitted white linen redingote and white accessories, the bride entered on the arm of her father. She wore a corsage of yellow butterfly orchids.

An informal reception immediately followed the ceremony, with the bride's mother, attired in plush pink sheer with a white corsage, receiving guests. The bride cut a three-tiered cake which was topped with pink bride-and-groom figurines and flanked by white tapers.

Mrs. Persel Hill of Springhill, La., sister of the bride, presided at the punchbowl and wore an aqua sheer gown with a corsage of white carnations. The sister of the groom, Mrs. Ralph Thomas of Springhill, wearing white eyelet pique, assisted in serving the guests. Miss Billy Kathleen Smith, another sister of the bride, presided over the guest book in a sheer lavender dress.

After a brief wedding trip to New Orleans and other points along the Gulf coast, Mr. and Mrs. Binion will be at home in the McDonald apartments in Bastrop.

Previous to her marriage Mrs. Binion was employed with the Southern Kraft corporation. She is a graduate of Bastrop High school and attended Louisiana State Normal and Bastrop Commercial school.

The bridegroom has served for several years as head coach and director of health and physical education at Bastrop High school. He obtained his A. B. degree at Centenary college and his M. A. degree in health and physical education at the University of Michigan.

SERIAL STORY

LUCKY PENNY

BY GLORIA KAYE

COPYRIGHT, 1942.
NEA SERVICE, INC.

CHAPTER IV

"It's a deal, Jim," Penny decided.

"Will you come back at 4?"

"I'd like to see anyone try to stop me," he answered.

Penny hummed the rest of the day away. The hours slipped by. Promptly at 4, Jim Vickers walked in, hat in hand, grinning. They waved goodby to Midge and Pietro.

Jim's car was an unstreamlined model of early thirties vintage. It needed paint, fenders, new tires.

"My one weakness," Jim said, "is a speedy motor car. This one I obtained at great expense by swapping valuable space on my want ad page. We have a garage man in town who could build an automobile with two tomato cans and a monkey wrench. To him I attribute the great beauty, power, and velocity of this imposing, custom-built vehicle."

The running board protested as Penny stepped in and she settled back comfortably on a squeaky seat. She was more tired than she would have admitted.

"What would you like to see first?" asked Jim. "Our imposing skyscrapers? Our beautiful parks? Our lovely residences?"

"You're the guide," said Penny. "Lead on."

"Well," Jim said seriously, "I suppose our best bet would be a drive around the steel mills. If you've never seen them in action before you have a real thrill ahead."

They found a bridge that crossed over the busy industrial valley. Below, steaming locomotives tugged huge, bucket-shaped cars laden with red-hot molten steel. Jim stopped the car when they were halfway across and for a moment they surveyed a magnificent panorama that stretched into the distance on all sides. Penny had never seen anything so breathtaking. It was as if an artist had painted this scene with sweeping strokes of a colorful brush.

They stepped out of the car and leaned against the bridge rail, absorbing the spectacle. Jim talked of blast furnaces, giant ladles, open hearths and Bessemer's explaining the processes of steel-making to Penny.

Absorbed in his description, he didn't notice Penny's admiring glances. She liked his looks. She found it pleasant to be here with him.

"It's fascinating," Penny said, softly, when he paused for a moment.

"You sound as if you really like this place."

"I do," Jim answered. "It's hard to explain until you get to know the town and the people in it. They deserve a lot more out of life than they've been getting. Steel men are a rough lot, but there isn't a finer gang alive than the fellows who work in the Kirk mills."

He looked at Penny with renewed interest.

"You've never lived in a mill town, have you, Penny?" he asked.

"No," she answered. "No — I haven't."

"My guess is that you've spent all your life in a little bit of an out-of-the-way place, where everybody knew you and knew all about everything you did," he ventured.

"You're right," Penny said, honestly. But she failed to mention France, and the fact that everyone knew of her activities because they were so often on the society pages.

"My home town is a little burg like that," Jim reminded. "It's just a little village, out on the prairie in Kansas. My dad has been a country lawyer out there for 30 years. I haven't been back for a long, long time."

"I'd like to see your home town some day," said Penny. "I've never been that far west."

"You'd like it," Jim said simply. Then he turned toward her and caught the glow in her eyes, warm and inviting. He laughed.

"Just being with you is fun," he said. "I don't often have such a good listener to hear my tales of woe. Where are you staying, Penny? It's getting late. I'd better drive you home."

"I'm sharing a little place with Midge Carter," Penny said.

"You're in good hands," Jim encouraged, leading Penny back to the car. "Better step into my chariot before I do my quick-change act and become the old professor again. I'll bore you with more details about the Kirk mills if you don't watch out."

"Bore me?" Penny protested. "I couldn't be more interested in the Kirk mills if I owned them!"

She caught herself quickly, suddenly tense as the thought struck her that Jim must surely guess her identity now.

"I wish you did own the Kirk mills," said Jim, happily unaware of her identity. "Unfortunately, they're owned by a nincompoop named Penelope Kirk."

Penny flushed. Unwittingly, Jim had brought her back to the realities of her situation. They drove back to Kirktown in silence, both preoccupied with their own thoughts.

"Jim," Penny said finally, cautiously, "have you ever seen Penelope Kirk?"

"Yes," he answered. "Often, years ago."

"What's she like?" Penny asked.

"She's like a lot of other female wastrels who've never done an honest day's work in their lives. She's flighty, selfish, snobbish. Her life is just one grand party. I knew her in Paris."

Jim fastened his eyes on a point far up the road.

"You might not believe it," he said, "but once I did a bit of traveling myself. Newspaper work—France and other places—before I came to my senses and settled down. I knew Penelope Kirk in the good old days."

"Would you know her now?" Penny asked, feigning innocence.

"Any time," said Jim confidently. "Her type never changes. Of course, she was just a kid when I saw her last. I would recognize her, though. She always looked as if she had just stepped down from a cloud. I don't think she could ever come down to earth."

Penny smiled. She recognized her old self in Jim's description. She had certainly changed. Strangely, she was proud that Jim didn't recognize her.

"How did you happen to come to Kirktown?" she asked, realizing it was time to change the subject.

"That's a long story, Penny. Jim's voice was thoughtful. "I had my own weakness. Drank my way out of one good job after another abroad. It's hard to explain to an American. There was so much underhanded, shady, crooked stuff going on—things I knew, but didn't dare write about. After a while that sort of thing does something to a man."

"I knew what was coming. I knew a lot more than was good for anyone to know. Guess I put my foot on it. One day I put on my hat, closed the apartment, started back home. Halfway across the Atlantic I threw the key away."

He looked gravely into Penny's eyes, searched her face for understanding of the things he could not say. "I just didn't belong there, you see. No more than you would."

Penny glowed with the flattery of his confidences. Her heart danced; she felt warmly happy. "Did you come straight to Kirktown?" she asked, hoping her tone was casual, fearing it wasn't.

"I always wanted a little paper where I would be free to write what I wanted to, the way I wanted to. And there was only one paper I could buy for the little money I had—the Kirktown Courier."

"Glad you're here!" she smiled. He turned toward her with a smile.

"Right now, for the first time—yes." She matched his grin with her own dimpled smile.

IMPORTANT NEW INSTRUCTIONS—REVISED JULY 1942

How to Fight

OFFICIAL INSTRUCTIONS
U. S. Office of Civilian Defense

FIRE BOMBS

These new instructions are based on exhaustive research by technicians of OCD and the Chemical Warfare Service, U. S. Army. They represent changes now adopted also by British officials after careful analysis of the results of both this and the old method during actual air raids. Both American and British tests prove that a jet of water, as illustrated below, will knock out the fire bomb in less than one minute—before major fires can get started. Fire (not the bomb) is the chief danger, and a jet of water is the best weapon. Respect the fire bomb but do not fear it.

BRING YOUR FIRE-FIGHTING EQUIPMENT TO THE SCENE QUICKLY

The small magnesium bomb, which is dropped in great numbers, will go through any ordinary roof. Store your equipment where it can be reached easily, and keep it ready for instant use.

SHOOT A JET OF WATER ON THE BOMB AT ONCE

Take cover behind a door, chair, or other furniture, if you can, when you do this. The jet knocks the bomb out quickly. There will be a burst of white flame, and a scattering of molten metal, most of which will be driven away from you by the force of the jet.

QUENCH PROMPTLY THE REMAINS OF BOMB AND ANY OTHER FIRES

If any small fires are started the jet will put these out easily. Within a short time you will be free to attack any other bombs which may have fallen nearby. Be absolutely sure all the fire is out before you leave.

THE PUMP TANK HOLDS ENOUGH WATER TO PUT OUT TWO BOMBS WHEN JET IS USED

This is the 4-gallon pump tank extinguisher which the Office of Civilian Defense will distribute in target areas to the air raid warden service. The tank can be refilled while the pump is being used.

JET MAY PREVENT ACTION OF BURSTER

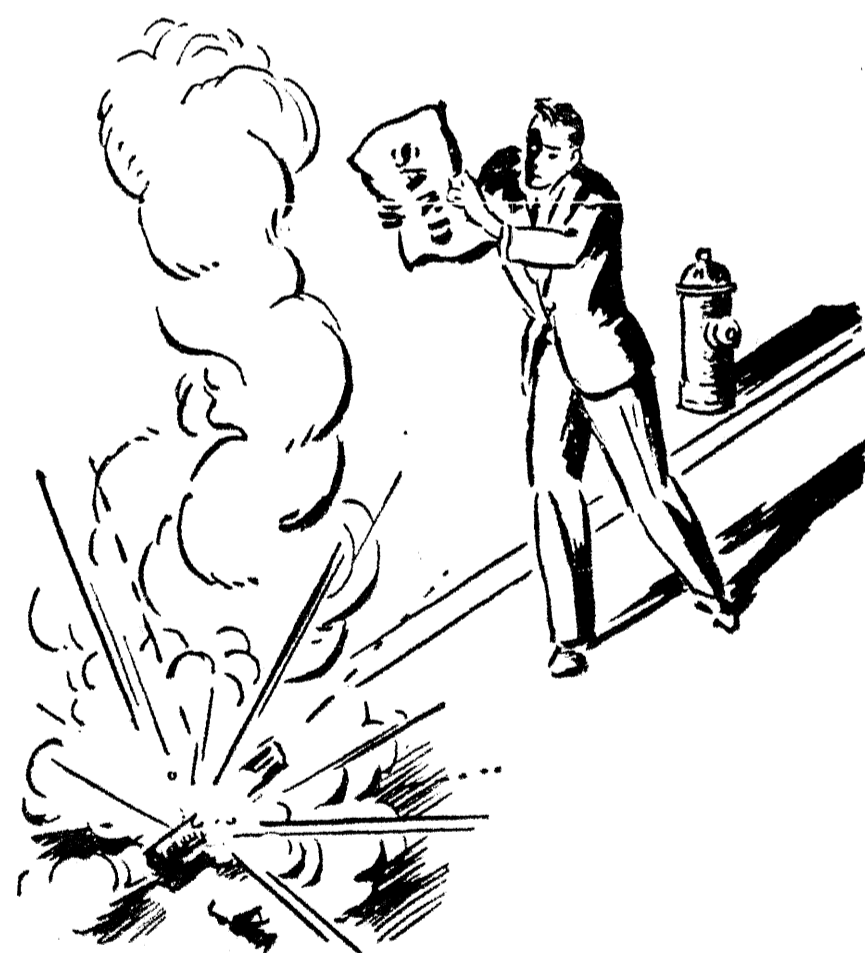

Some bombs have a small burster attachment. When the jet is used promptly, the bomb may be destroyed before the charge goes off.

KNOW YOUR EXTINGUISHERS

All fire extinguishers that look like this can be used on the bomb because they contain water or water solutions of chemicals. They include the soda-acid, foam, and gas cartridge types.

Other types of extinguishers should not be used on the bomb because they do not contain water, but they can be used on fires started by bombs. Remember that your garden hose is one of the best fire-fighting devices so long as there is water pressure.

USE SAND ONLY IF A BOMB FALLS WHERE IT CANNOT START A FIRE OR IF WATER IS NOT AVAILABLE

This can be done by dropping a bag of sand over the bomb, or by the shovel-and-bucket technique.

M'KENZIE RAPS MILLS' RECORD

Candidate For Lower House Speaks Before Crowd At Farmerville

FARMERVILLE, La., Aug. 8.—(Special)—Speaking before several hundred farmers and stockmen at the Union Parish livestock auction here yesterday, Charles E. McKenzie, candidate for congress from the Fifth district, assailed the war record of Congressman Newt V. Mills, calling attention to the fact that Mills was recorded as not voting for the declaration of war against the Japs.

"Now Mr. Mills is running newspaper ads all over the district bragging about his record as congressman," said Mr. McKenzie, "but he didn't say a word about why he introduced a resolution in congress to abolish the army, scrap the navy and do away with all armaments. He didn't say a word in this ad about why he voted against fortifying Guam and other strategic islands in the Pacific. But when he was questioned about this he said he did not want to offend our Japanese friends. Does he consider the yellow devils friends when they stabbed us in the back at Pearl Harbor?"

"All I can say is that when congress declared war on Japan after the Pearl Harbor attack, the Congressional Record shows that Newt V. Mills did not vote to declare war. It is right there in black and white."

McKenzie praised the efforts of livestock owners to make north Louisiana a "cattleman's paradise." One of the planks in his eight-point platform is "Raise More Cattle and Hogs."

"Here at your auction," he said, "you have a fine example of what I'd like to see more of. Under your setup, if a farmer needs some cash he can rope a steer, bring him here and get a good price, cash on the barrel head. I believe that a congress sincerely interested in the welfare of the farmer can work out a system that would guarantee a farmer a satisfactory price for everything he can produce. And that has got to be done if the American farmer is to fill his proper place in a world that depends upon him for survival."

QUIZZING NEGROES FOR FAILURE TO REGISTER

Two Ouachita parish negroes are being investigated for not having registered for the draft. One, Jim Green, was arrested by members of the sheriff's department at the airport Thursday evening and has been turned over to federal authorities.

The other, George Washington, was arrested in West Monroe July 28 for carrying a concealed weapon and sentenced to 15 days in jail. It was later discovered that he had not registered with a draft board.

PLANS ARE MADE FOR LABOR DAY

Parade Will Feature Marching Feet And Save Gasoline, Rubber

Plans for celebration of Labor day in Monroe are under way and K. A. Calhoun, president of the Monroe Central Trades and Labor council, last night said that because of the existing national emergency that the working people of Monroe would observe their holiday as moderately as possible and that workmen would remain at their posts on jobs essential to the war effort.

The usual Labor day parade is planned, but Calhoun stated: "Due to the fact that we are in war and that several items are now being rationed it is the responsibility of every individual to cooperate with the rationing board and help in the war effort. The Central Trades and Labor council has given due consideration to existing conditions and by unanimous decision, has decided that this year's parade would be on a military nature and confined to the business area of Monroe."

By "military nature" it was pointed out that the parade would feature marching feet of labor and conserve gasoline and rubber.

The Labor day program is incomplete but a Labor day address will be delivered by Mayor H. H. Benoit and a representative of the American Federation of Labor. The Union Label league will hold open house at the labor temple throughout the afternoon on September 7.

Calhoun also stated that the various labor groups forming the building trades crafts have pledged to work throughout the labor holiday for the sake of national defense and join in the day's festivities only before or after their day's work is done.

Aside from the Labor day plans, Calhoun also announced the Central Trades and Labor council was to sponsor the newly organized group of Sea Scouts here. The Sea Scouts' troop will be composed of boys between the ages of 15 and 18, and their ship will be called the S. S. Lexington.

MISSIONARY TO TALK ON CHINA

L. J. Christian To Be Featured At Church Encampment Here

The Louisiana Congregational Young People's summer conference will open its fifth annual session at Camp Ki-Ro-Li on Sunday, August 9, which will close on the following Sunday. Fully 100 young people are expected to be in the camp through the week and there will be many lectures, addresses and study periods as well as games and recreational features, it is stated.

Leonard J. Christian, of Foochow, China, a foreign missionary, will tell in thrilling manner some experiences in the devastating war that China and Japan are now undergoing. Mrs. Christian, his capable assistant, will be with him at the Ki-Ro-Li camp.

Also Dr. H. H. Lindeman, district superintendent, Oklahoma City, Okla., will attend the encampment. The Congregational church has two missions in this area, directed by Rev. Wright, pastor. One is five miles north of Calhoun and the other is south of the Monroe-Jonesboro highway and is called Pleasant Hill.

The denomination has purchased a parsonage for the pastor at 212 North Sixth street, West Monroe, and hopes in time to establish a church in West Monroe.

Mr. Christian enlisted at a youthful age in the United States army seeing active service in the Spanish-American war. He served also in the Philippine Islands, in Cuba and in Hawaii. Then, after a bout with typhoid, he was mustered out of military duty but he went back again as an army nurse.

While stationed in Peking during the Boxer Rebellion siege he was guard at the American legation. He attended Oberlin college and enlisted for Christian service under the American Board of Foreign Missions in China in 1910.

Through the years he has done "evangelistic" or general religious work, some educational and much relief work, for China has had many sorrows before she became the victim of an aggressor nation. He has witnessed a tremendous amount of suffering during these years but he has seen again and again the remarkable progress made by China and can tell story after story of the spirit of the Chinese Christians under adversity.

In his earlier years he lived for months at a time in that area where Communist armies were being pushed across the Fukien border. He witnessed devastating floods and worked for the victims of nature on a rampage. He was in Foochow during the terrific and repeated air raids of the last few years and engaged in relief and religious work.

Mr. Christian was born in Albany, New York. While supervising schools has been one of Mrs. Christian's important jobs. She has had an even more difficult and important duty, for the past two years, as treasurer of both the Foochow and Shaowu missions of the American Board of Foreign missions. This is a great responsibility at any time but with the present complicated currency and scrambled money market it assumes abnormal proportions.

Mrs. Christian, who was born Agnes J. Meebold in Chicago, and educated at Wheaton college, first went to China in 1909, as a single woman. She met and married Leonard J. Christian, at work in Foochow, three years later, and since then they have worked in double harness.

Living and working in Foochow through times of peace and prosperity, and living and working in that same city in war time, gives Mrs. Christian a fine picture of the spirit and tempo of the Chinese people, especially the Christians. During the past two years repeated rumors had it that Foochow was to be invaded by the Japanese. Thrown into a panic, the city at one time came very near being burned by the Chinese following the famous "scorched earth policy," before it was discovered that the rumor of invasion was unfounded.

In Foochow today, suffering increases because of limited food, profiteering, blockade and the uncertainty of Japanese action.

COTTINGHAMS WILL MEET SON IN MIAMI

RUSTON, La., Aug. 8.—(Special)—President and Mrs. Clayborne Cottingham of Louisiana Tech plan to leave Ruston Sunday night for Miami, Fla., to meet their son, Lieutenant Clayborne Baker Cottingham, who will take a plane from Rio de Janeiro, where he is a naval attaché at the American embassy.

En route to Miami, Dr. and Mrs. Cottingham will stop at Pensacola to meet Miss Juanita Lewis Day, who will accompany the Cottingshams to Miami. Miss Day and Lieutenant Cottingham are to be married in the near future, it was announced.

Lieutenant Cottingham called his parents by telephone from Rio de Janeiro Friday night, at which time arrangements for the trip to Miami were made, according to President Cottingham.

Lieutenant Cottingham, a graduate of Louisiana college, has been in the navy since 1936 and obtained his aviation wings at Pensacola.

SHREVEPORT, La., Aug. 8.—(Special)—Captain George T. Owen, Jr., who for the past two years has been Louisiana state housing coordinator, executive director of the department of commerce and industry, and executive counsel to Governor Sam Jones, has reported to Barksdale Field, where he has been assigned as base operations and training officer. U., winning both his A. B. degree and his lieutenant's commission there in 1926. Two years later he earned his law degree there.

After completing his education at the university, he became a member of a prominent law firm at Baton Rouge, where he remained until he became associated with the state administration two years ago.

'Maisie Gets Her Man' Opens At Paramount Today

Ann Southern and Red Skelton are convincing Allen Jenkins that their vaudeville routine will be the hit of his show with Lloyd Corrigan looking on. This is a scene from "Maisie Gets Her Man," playing today and tomorrow at the Paramount Theater.

Sothorn And Skelton In Comedy Hit

Newest Of Series Proves Fast-Moving Film With Strong Cast

THE adventures of Maisie continue fast and furious in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Maisie Gets Her Man," latest in the series of which Ann Sothorn is the star, and which opens today at the Paramount theater. Sharing starring honors with Miss Sothorn is Red Skelton, radio and screen comedian, who appears as an aspiring vaudeville comic. The teaming of Ann Sothorn and Red Skelton is a "natural" and the first-night audience will leave no doubt that there would be further demand for other vehicles for this pair.

Maisie appears as a jobless show-girl in search of a job after she quits a knife-thrower's act when that gentleman turns up for work drunk. She wanders into a building known to its regulars as the "Larceny Building," and Maisie's life is just a series of adventures after that.

Maisie and Red form a vaudeville team, get a booking but they fall because of Red's innumerable stage fright. Thereafter they get mixed up with a racket in the "Larceny Building." How they clear themselves comprises the rest of the story.

The story, a swift compounding of elements of adventure and comedy, is ably aided by a strong supporting cast which includes such able veterans as Donald Meek, Allen Jenkins, Leo Gorcey, Fritz Feld and Rags Ragland. Direction by Roy Del Ruth, responsible for topnotch musicals, is fast-paced and able. J. Walter Ruben, producer of the other Maisie films, keeps up the excellence of the series in the present offering.

LOUIS ARMSTRONG HERE WEDNESDAY

Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong, world's highest paid colored musician, trumpet player extraordinary and acclaimed as the international "Trumpet King of Swing," makes a personal appearance with his orchestra Wednesday night at the Colored High school gym in a benefit performance.

Armstrong brings his entire musical aggregation intact, with a galaxy of "swing" stars including his two vocalists, Sonny Woods and Velma Middleton. Velma is a new addition to the Armstrong roster.

Louis Armstrong was seen a short time ago in "Goin' Places," in which he was co-starred with Dick Powell and Anita Louise.

"O! Satchelmouth" is a sizzling trumpet man if there ever was one and he has assembled the finest array of swingsters possible. Not only will Armstrong have Sonny Woods and Velma Middleton there, but in his band will be found such musical stars as Luis Russell, Paul Barbarin, Jay C. Higginbotham, "Pop" Foster and Joe Garland.

There will be a section reserved for white patrons. Proceeds will be used to pay for construction of the new gym.

Already in camps, posts, air fields over Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana, soldiers have started sending in their favorite song titles and reasons why they like those songs.

'Real Glory' With Cooper At Capitol

Gary Teams With Andrea Leeds In Story Of Philippine Scouts

STARRING Gary Cooper, and with Andrea Leeds and David Niven heading an unusually important cast, Samuel Goldwyn's new adventure drama, "The Real Glory," which will have its premiere showing at the Capitol theater today, unfolds a thrilling and exciting tale of the Philippine Scouts and their heroic bravery at the conclusion of the Spanish-American War, when the Philippines were overrun by insurrectionists and religious fanatics.

The central theme of "The Real Glory" revolves around the exploits of the scouts, who became a constabulary on the island and rallied to their support loyal natives and peaceful Moros. The Moros, a tribe of unorthodox Mohammedans, had retreated to the hills and jungles of the Sulu Kingdom.

Henry Hathaway, who directed Cooper in "Lovers of a Bengal Lancer," directed "The Real Glory," and the supporting cast is headed by unique players, among them Broderick Crawford, Reginald Owen, Kay Johnson, Vladimir Sokoloff, Russell Hicks and Henry Kolker. For the first time in his career, Cooper plays the role of a doctor, who comes to this distant outpost for medical experience. He remains to help the army quell the rebellion and establish lasting peace.

Miss Leeds in the role of an American visiting her father, also stays on—not to win the war, but to win a trip to the altar on the arm of Gary.

For weeks a corps of 500-odd workmen, most of them skilled craftsmen, labored to complete a replica of a regular army post in the Philippines for this Goldwyn picture, and the results are startling. The space occupied by the set comprised six acres, and 40,000 square feet of asphalt were used for a lagoon 400 feet long and six feet deep, containing 1,500,000 gallons of water. This vast body of water wasn't static for a minute for a pumping plant was set up to maintain a natural current in the stream and a six-inch head of water tumbled constantly over a six-foot waterfall.

WILDLIFE CAMP ENDS ITS OUTING

The fourth annual wildlife encampment at Jordan-Johnson state 4-H club's camp near Calhoun came to a close Friday afternoon with a general meeting summing up the accomplishments of the wildlife program for the week.

The camp opened last Monday under the auspices of and in cooperation with extension work in agriculture and home economics at L. S. U. and agricultural and mechanical colleges and United States department of agriculture cooperatives.

Thirteen local parish agents and seven home demonstration agents were in attendance with 135 adult and 4-H club leaders.

In charge of the incampment were J. S. Campbell, birds and their habits; Robert E. Dean, rodent control; A. S. McKean, trees and shrubbery; and T. J. Jordan, state agent, Southern university at Scotlandville, La., in charge of activities.

Canada had a peace-time navy of only 15 ships and 1,800 men.

FORT LEONARD WOOD, Mo., Aug. 8.—(Special)—Fred E. Moss, box 28, Mer Rouge, and Alfred D. Cole, rural route 2, Columbus, La., who recently entered military service, have arrived at the engineer replacement training center here for an intensive training program in preparation for combat engineer duty.

Training will include basic subjects like close and extended order drill, manual of arms, rifle marksmanship and combat principles as well as the functions of military engineering—use of tools and equipment, building of fixed and floating bridges, demolitions and construction of roads and obstacles. Soldiers go from here to tactical units or to special training or officer candidate schools.

OUACHITA TO PLAY EIGHT-GAME GRID SCHEDULE

BRAVES CHALK UP SECOND STRAIGHT WIN OVER BROOKLYN

Salvo Defeats Whit Wyatt In Disorderly Game; Reds And Cubs Split

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—(P)—In a disorderly game in which pitchers Manny Salvo and Whit Wyatt threw what looked suspiciously like old-fashioned "bean balls" time after time, the Braves nipped the Dodgers 2 to 0 today to chalk up their second win in a row over the league leaders.

Umpires twice had to break up promising free-for-all between the two clubs, just as players were charging at each other.

Only two batters were hit but there were many number of "near misses". Wyatt brushed Salvo's uniform with one of his stunts in the seventh inning. In the eighth, there was no doubt when one of Salvo's shots plunked against Wyatt. The Dodger's elbow was so pained about it, he hurried his bat out toward the mound, but his aim wasn't good.

As Wyatt walked to first, Salvo stalked over to the first-base line. Manny's teammates, Sibby Sisti and Max West rushed over to intercept him. The entire squads of both clubs poured out and milled around the infield until umpires restored order.

In the seventh inning, a similar scene occurred when Salvo shouted something to Wyatt as the former walked to first base after being struck. An umpire got between them and there was no trouble.

Sisti scored both the Braves' runs. He walked in the fifth and went around on Roberto's single and Salvo's fly, and he tallied in the seventh after singling and moving along on a hit batman and Holmes' single.

Wade Has Bunch Of 'John Does' Out For Army '11'

Most Of Soldiers Training For Contest With Washington Pro Eleven Are Hardly Known To Gridiron Public

By Robert Myers

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 8.—(P)—Wallace Wade of Duke—pardon, Major Wallace Wade of the United States army—has a difficult task before him. Between now and August 30 he has to select and train a squad of football players, most of whom he has never seen, to play the perfectly-conditioned, well-organized Washington Redskins.

The problem is even more important because this game, pitting an all-star aggregation recruited from the ranks of the United States army against Sammy Baugh and his Redskins mates, is the first battle between army-manned eleven and other clubs of the powerful National Pro league circuit.

It is imperative that the army team—the western team, in this instance—make a strong showing if the succeeding clashes are to be successful. Major Wade came down today from his present training base at Camp Cooke, 150 miles north, to iron out a few wrinkles in connection with the game here in the Memorial coliseum.

Sitting in the conference were all the bigwigs of the promotion, including George Preston Marshall, owner of the Redskins. The Washington club, incidentally, arrives in California tomorrow to go into training at San Diego.

At this date Major Wade has a nucleus of a team. Some, like big (Lieutenant) John Kimbrough from Texas A. and M., and Don Scott of Ohio State, are well known. Others in the camp at present are more on the John Doe class as far as college football fame is concerned.

The west's forces are being augmented daily, however, and to repeat, Major Wade will field a representative eleven August 30 and in the games to follow.

He figures on starting out with a squad of about 90 men, and cutting it in half for the series. Since the major knows only little about some of his men, and that goes for the big boys as well as the John Does, it'll be up to every player to prove his worth before he makes the squad.

Major Wade isn't sure just what system will be employed and won't know until he gets further along in training.

"We hope it'll be one that scores touchdowns, however," he chuckled.

YANKEES RETURN HOME, BLAST A'S BY 8-TO-4 COUNT

Three Homers Too Much For Macken; Browns Beat Detroit, 6-4

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—(P)—After losing their last two games on the road, the Yankees came back to their own ballyard today and made themselves right at home with a three-home-run attack that easily trounced the Philadelphia Athletics, 8 to 4.

Connie Mack threw his ace, Phil Marchiondi, at the Yankees and the Bombers proceeded to romp him in a hurry. Charley Keller clouted his 17th homer of the year with two aboard in the first inning; Bill Dickey whacked his first of the campaign with one on in the third and Buddy Hassett belted his fourth with a mate waiting in the sixth.

With these seven runs coming on homers, it was no trick at all for the Yankees to hand Marchiondi his ninth loss of the year against 13 victories and break his five-game winning streak.

Meantime, the A's made quite free with Spud Chandler's Sunday slants, outhitting the Yanks 13 to 10 and ending Spud's string of 25 scoreless innings pitched by pushing their first run over in the third. But with his mates hitting Marchiondi's boom-boom ball all over the place, Chandler just coasted along to chalk up his sixth victory in a row and his 13th of the season against only two setbacks. He has not been beaten since June 18.

Keller's four-bagger gave him the Yankee team homer leadership with 17, one more than Joe DiMaggio. By hitting his fourth of the year today, Hassett now has more homers than he ever had in one season before in his big league career.

Each team made only seven hits, but the Browns clinched the game in the first inning with a four-run outburst against Rookie Hal White.

Elden Auker, winning his 12th victory, allotted the Tigers only three hits in the first seven innings. In the eighth, Birdie Tebbetts singled, Pinch Hitter Don Ross walked and Jimmy Bloodworth smacked his 11th home run of the year. In the ninth, Rudy York's double and Murray Franklin's single finished the scoring.

SHOULDER INJURY STARTED MUSIAL ON TRIP TO TOP

Cardinals' Slugger Gave Up Pitching Career After Bad Somersault

By Burton Benjamin

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—The only time Stan Musial ever missed on his somersaults, it altered his entire baseball career.

The St. Louis Cardinal slammer does his flip-flop whenever he dives for a shag string catch. He explains that it helps break the fall.

Two years ago, Musial took a dive in the Florida State league and landed hard on his left shoulder. It put an end to his pitching career and made him a full-time outfielder who was destined one year later to become a sensation in the National league.

Musial, a husky 6-foot, 175-pound outpaw, was burning up the Class D league pitching for De Land. He had plenty of swift, fair control, a good assortment of stuff.

Only 19 at the time, fresh out of Pennsylvania's local ball, Musial had a welcome versatility for a minor league club. He could belt a ball which made him a jack-of-all-trades. Not only did he win 18 games, lose 5 and pitch the club to the pennant, but he played 113 games in the outfield and hit 311.

Still, the Cardinals signed him as a pitcher and that was his primary role. He feared the shoulder injury might put an end to his baseball.

"That would have been bad," he grins. "It would have put me right back in the steel mills. That's all I know besides baseball."

He says that with astonishing candor, and many baseball players overlook the financial break the game provides, figure they would have been bank presidents anyway.

Musial, teamed with the Columbus Red Birds, another Cardinal farm, in the spring of 1941. He didn't tell Burt Shotton about his arm, but it was soon evident that he had lost his speed.

Shotton had heard of his batting prowess and after watching him tear around the bases and cover ground in the outfield, he advised Musial his pitching days were over.

The year 1941 is the most important in Musial's baseball life. He played in three leagues—Western, International and National—and outdid the recognized batting champions of all three.

Under this tremendous pressure, the kid who figured his baseball career might be over that spring and who started the season in Class C, hit a cool .426 in seven games.

"The only time I was nervous," he recalls, "was the first time I went to bat. After that, it was just another ball game to me. I never hit any better than in those seven games."

"This season I started out fairly well but fell off in May. They benched me for awhile against southpaws but I started to hit again and began to work every day."

Musial won't be 22 until November. Married, father of a two-year-old son, he is fairly secure from the draft.

With his batting average in the .325 bracket, Stanley Frank Musial is showing the cynics that his splurge of last season was no flash-in-the-pan.

PAULINE BETZ UPSET BY YOUNG CALIFORNIA STAR

RYE, N. Y., Aug. 8.—(P)—Louise Brough, 17-year-old California girl, upset Pauline Betz of Los Angeles, second ranking player in the nation, for the eastern grass courts tennis title today. Miss Brough, seeded second behind Miss Betz, won in straight sets, 6-3, 7-5.

Under the second straight championship for the national girls' champion, whose home also is in Los Angeles. Last week she annexed the crown in the annual Midstate tourney at East Hampton, N. Y.

Seymour Greenberg of Chicago, advanced to the final in the men's singles division with a 6-3, 6-4, 6-2 triumph over George Richards, also of Los Angeles, in an all-left-handed duel. Ted Schroeder of Glendale, Calif., gained the final from the upper bracket, yesterday.

NORTH LOUISIANA GRID STARS LOSE TO SOUTH, 7 TO 12

Don Fortier Scores Twice For Victors To Overcome Upstate Lead

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 8. (AP)—South Louisiana high school football players, thanks to a plentiful and versatile supply of blacks, maintained their perfect record in the annual all-star game by scoring a 12-7 victory over the North here tonight.

Don Fortier, who carried Francis T. Nicholls high over New Orleans to its greatest season last fall, scored both the winning team's touchdowns, both on short plunges after good-sized runs by Johnny Campora of St. Aloysius, another local school.

Austin Wilson of Ferriday pounded left guard for three yards on fourth down to get the Northern touchdown. Lum Mitchell of Ferriday set it up by blocking and recovering Campora's punt on the two, but three plays later netted a one-yard loss before Wilson took it over.

L. D. Claunch of Haynesville placed the extra point.

The South scored first in the opening period, but the North went ahead a few minutes later and led 7-6 until the last quarter.

ALI ALLIBA WILL MEET CURTIS IN FEATURE EVENT

Rough Turkish Matman Faces One Of Monroe Fans' Favorites

The wily Turk, Ali Alliba, who has yet to lose a match by pin falls here, returns to the Monroe wrestling arena Tuesday night for an appointment with Jack Curtis, United States light heavyweight champion, in the main event.

Ali Alliba, roughest thing to come down the pike in this direction for some time, may meet his match when he climbs into the ring with the Vicksburg flash Tuesday.

Despite the fact that Rene LeBeau and Farmer Mack have claimed victories over the Turk here this summer, Promoter Gus Kallio's customers realize that in each instance Ali beat himself by being disqualified for being too rough, and they are anxious to see someone tackle the Turk who will be able to win with pin falls.

They believe Curtis can turn the trick.

Curtis, a favorite here for several years, has probably wrestled here more and won more matches than any other matman ever brought to Monroe. He has always been the crowd's choice in any battle, so the Turk probably won't have a rooster in the house Tuesday.

The curtain-raiser will bring together Mike Fraley and Les Chapman, another pair of matmen well known to fans of the Twin Cities.

Fraley, bad man from Omaha, Neb., is almost as rough as the Turk. Chapman, a native of Chicago, is more the scientific type of matman but shows a tendency to get rough occasionally.

The main event will have a 90-minute time limit, two falls to win. The semi-final will be over an hour time limit, two falls to win.

Akin "Butch" Martin will referee both bouts.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, July 8.—(Wide World)

—Although most of last year's young big league players are in the service, Madison Square Garden is definitely counting on having pro hockey this winter. . . . Hasn't been explained yet how teams will be rounded up, except that there will be plenty of 18 and 19-year-old Canadian boys in the line-up. . . . Anyway, the boys who make the arrangements have been given the go-ahead signal. . . . And what goes for the Garden probably goes for the other National league cities. . . . Minor league rinks likely will have to depend on those profitable skating shows. The "ice-capades" open here September 4—earliest on record—and the roller skating vanities start in Chicago September 9 for a tour to the west coast. . . . One reason for those fancy shows in the Canadian open is that practically all the United States pros are playing the small-sized ball, illegal here.

Today's Guest Star
Jack Charvat, Tulsa, (Okla.) Tribune: "Wire reports show that betting at Saratoga race track fell off more than $250,000 during the first six days of the current meeting. Track officials blame the lack of sucker play, bad weather and restricted traveling, but some New Yorkers claim 'fakes' are just getting started."

Gridiron Grapevine
The army plebs should have a few kicks coming this year. . . . Wayne Brown, who was an all-state back in Minnesota at 16 and headed for Iowa, Conn., a while back for 10 days of touring from Reverend Arnold Forster, the "punting person." . . . Dr. Ponton tipped off Earl Black and now Wayne is a West Pointer. . . . University of Washington fans say watch for Fred Provo, soph halfback who is hard to corner as a greased rabbit.

After giving out with the usual quota of sobs, North Carolina's dope sheet tells something about the navy pre-flight school team and concludes: "The entire picture adds up to the fact that this fall Chapel Hill should be the football center of the south."

Hard Luck Harry
Jimmy Johnston, who is old enough to know better, took a holiday at Indian Lake, N. J., the other day, fell off a bicycle and fractured two ribs. . . . But if you think that's a tough break, Freddie Sommers (1) wants to raise a big squawk over the decision they handed his boy, Cleo Shams, at Holyoke, Mass., the other night. (2) he has to explain to his Los Angeles draft board why he couldn't report there the same day the notice reached him in New York. (3) he wants to tell all about his new fighter, Billy Strauss of Wilkes-Barre, Pa. . . . And Freddie has a busted jaw all wired up so he can't talk above a painful whisper for six weeks.

Service Department
You can't say no to a colonel. When Lieutenant Colonel Bob Neyland asked Lieutenant W. R. Jeffrey, coach of Sheppard Field, Texas, for a list of all-around and prospects, Jeffrey, about to schedule such teams as Texas Christian and Tulsa, tearfully submitted the name of Darrell Lester two-time all-American from Texas Christian University. . . . Staff Sergeant Guy Guy of the Marines, now stationed at Fort Mifflin, Pa., has won 19 of 21 fights since he turned pro a year ago; his mother, Mrs. Pearl Guy of Augusta, Ga., has joined the Wrens and his brother, Chester Guy, is a policeman. . . . A lotta tough guys, eh?

RANKIN CALLS FOR IMMEDIATE PAYMENT
WASHINGTON, Aug. 8. (AP)—Representative Rankin, Democrat, Mississippi, today demanded a showdown Monday on a bill calling for immediate payment of the allowances due service men's dependents, but two similar measures were pigeonholed by the senate military affairs committee.

"I'm going to make a desperate effort to get this measure taken up and passed by unanimous consent on Monday," Rankin said.

Declaring that a majority of the house military affairs committee already had expressed themselves in favor of the bill, the Mississippi said:

"It is simply unthinkable that all these payments be held up for four months when so many of these helpless dependents of the men in our armed forces are actually suffering want, especially when it would not cost the government an extra penny to make these payments now."

War department witnesses who appeared before the senate military affairs committee, however, were reported to have declared it would simply be physically impossible to compute the sums due and make out the checks before November 1, the date stipulated by the new service allowance law.

The same witnesses also were said to have asserted emphatically that no politics entered into their recommendation for payment of five months' accumulated allowances November 1. (The allowances are retroactive to June 1.)

his 11th victory for the Cubs in the nightcap 3-0.

Lon Warneke gave 10 hits over the 12 frames of the first contest and had a 1-0 lead on Paul Derringer when Derringer was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the eighth. Joe Beggs finished and won for the Reds.

Lee was never in trouble in the second.

The opener was a first class three-handed pitching duel. The only walks were intentional. Warneke and Derringer gave one apiece, and Beggs held the Cubs hitless in his four innings.

The Cubs' lone run came in the fifth on Clyde McCullough's double, a fielder's choice, and Lou Stringer's single.

A two-out rally gave the Reds the tying run in the ninth on singles by Frank McCormick, Eric Tipton, and Bert Haas.

Then, in the 12th, with one gone, Eddie Joost doubled to center, Al Lakeman walked and Frank Kelleher, batting for Beggs, singled to left for the ball game.

FARM TENANTS MAY OWN LAND

FSA Holds Out Opportunity To Those Who Can Qualify

A limited number of capable farm tenants, sharecroppers, and day laborers in Ouachita parish will be given the opportunity to buy farms of their own before next season through the Farm Security administration, P. G. Boyd, parish supervisor, announced.

This opportunity of farm ownership is provided through the tenant purchase program of Farm Security, as authorized by the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant act. Under the plan, loans are made to cover cost of the land and improvements and are repayable over a 40-year period at 3 per cent interest. Building restrictions of the War Production board, however, place a $500 limit on house construction and $1,000 on farm buildings and improvements.

Thirty-eight farm families in Ouachita parish have already obtained tenant purchase loans during the past several years. Others who are interested may file applications now with the FSA supervisor.

A tenant purchase committee, composed of Henry Hinkle, N. B. Golson, and R. N. Johnson, will review all applications in this parish.

Those expecting to make application for tenant purchase loans to buy farms for next season are being urged by the supervisor to enter applications

ENERGETIC CLUB WORKERS

Shown above are the members of Monroe's newest club, the Victory Girls. They are to give entertainments and benefits and money received will go to aid war-torn China. 65 MADE COLONELS
WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—(P)—The Marine Corps announced today the promotion of 65 lieutenant colonels to the temporary rank of colonel. Among them was George H. Rowan, Artesia, Miss.

COPS STOPPED PLAY AND WENT TO WORK

PARKERSBURG, W. Va.—(P)—To relieve the monotony while cruising around, Police Lieutenant Harry Dougherty and Officer W. S. Hamrick play a game with auto license numbers, the winner being the one who spots the highest number in a given time.

"I see 330-199, so 1 win," said Hamrick.

"Not so," said Dougherty. "West Virginia licenses go only to 200,000 and something."

They pursued the car, discovered the "B" on the license had once been a "3" to denote a truck license, and arrested the driver for improper use of license plates.

Little Victory Clubbers Are All Out For Chinese

Ambitious, Energetic Workers Emulate Adults In Patriotic Endeavor

The Victory Girls' club is off and away in its effort to aid suffering, war-torn China, and its members, all unaided by adults, have organized and already have their first contribution taken to the bank.

Winsome little Barbara R. McWhorter, 10, an energetic little miss with auburn hair and sparkling brown eyes, came to the News-Star-World office to explain the nature of their new club with all the sophistication of a well-poised society matron approaching the paper's society editor.

"I want to have a little piece in the paper to tell folks how we are a-trying to help China," she explained.

Then she related how some weeks ago, tiring of dolls, swimming parties and picnics, three or four little girls got together and resolved to really put on something big, just like "grownups" and get some money to assist the hard-pressed Chinese. They had heard their parents discuss the present plight of China and this appealed to them.

The exploits of "Orphan Annie" in the newspapers, they confessed, was largely responsible for their launching of the project of helpfulness.

Other little girls were enlisted in and the club was formed. The original members are the following: Beverly Glyn Martin, 10; Nancy Sue Beasley, 11; Betty Ann Crubirds, 11; Betty Jo Shlenker, 11; Joy James, 11; Billie Harper, 11 and Barbara R. McWhorter, 10.

Of course officers had to be elected, and these were unanimously chosen for their respective posts: Joy James, president; Billie Harper, vice-president; Barbara R. McWhorter, treasurer.

Meetings are held each Wednesday at 2:30 p.m., and meeting places are rotated from one home to another of the youthful members. A play was given recently and 20 or more mothers attended. The admission was placed at a nickel for a "reserved seat" and general admission was three cents. Nothing was said about "war tax."

The girls, with little assistance from elders, plan to stage a carnival and other social and profit-making affairs. They are working with a vengeance and their enthusiasm is said to be contagious.

The sum of $4.45 was recently surrendered for safe-keeping at the Central Savings Bank and Trust company by Treasurer McWhorter, and much more money will, it is said, follow this initial sum.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 8.—(Special)—Two representatives of the naval aviation cadet selection board will arrive in Monroe, Monday, August 24, to interview prospective candidates for naval flight training and to arrange a subsequent visit during which the navy's flight classification test will be given, it was announced by the board.

FARMER SAYS FOXES DESTROYING COTTON

The cotton planter whose troubles usually include boll weevils, no rain, too much rain or poor prices when the crop is in can now add foxes to his woes—at least one Ouachita parish planter has.

This is probably one even Robert Ripley wouldn't believe but foxes are destroying cotton on the H. L. Smith place in Coco bend on the Ouachita river south of here near Bosco.

Mr. Smith, a well known planter, is authority for the story himself. "It's hard to believe. First I thought it was weevils or some new kind of bug. Negro tenants discovered signs of foxes and it was concluded that it was foxes damaging the crop. The tender ends of the young bolls are being bitten off clean. I know foxes have been catching chickens out in the tall cotton away from the houses, and the animals leave plenty of signs where they have been playing around like a bunch of puppies in the rows."

One day the past week one of Smith's tenants caught one of the vermin. He buried some bones in a cotton row frequented by foxes and placed a steel trap nearby. The next morning he had a fox in the trap. The animal had stepped into the trap while trying to dig up the bones.

Hollywood Sandwich Shop Has Smart Lunch Room

Best Of Foods And First Class Service Invariably Rendered

A smartly arranged modern lunch room, complete with leather upholstered booths and a spacious counter is making the Hollywood Sandwich Shop more popular than ever with residents of the Twin Cities, according to Mrs. Inez Tarrance, the operator and manager.

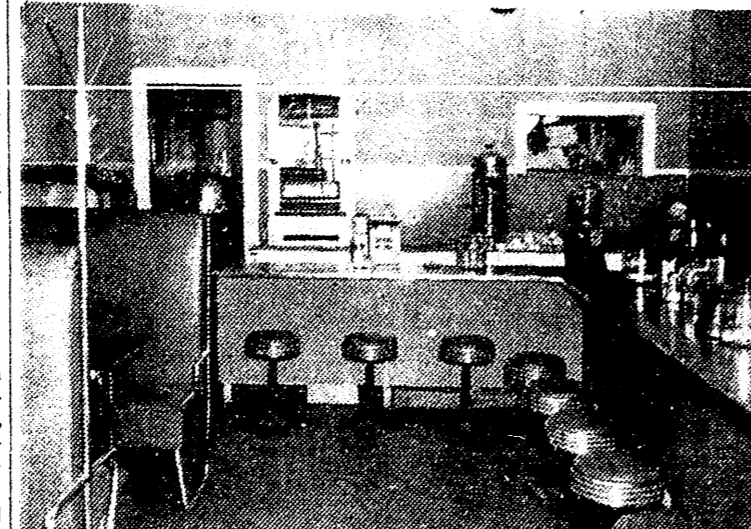

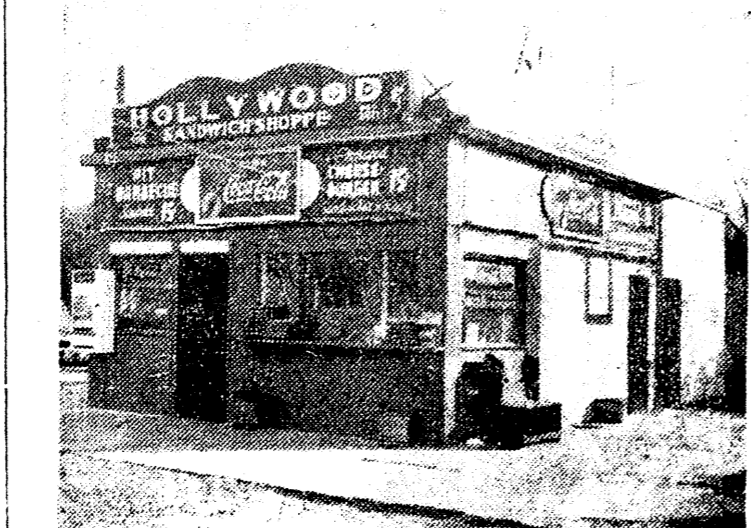

"We are really appreciative of the many compliments that have been accorded us since we remodeled the Hollywood," Mrs. Tarrance said, "and we are going to endeavor to show our appreciation by striving harder than ever to serve the kind of food and service worthy of the many friends we enjoy in the Twin Cities."

The famous "Suzi-Q" potatoes, exclusive with the Hollywood in Monroe, is thrilling the palate of the many new customers that have been eating at the Hollywood since its remodeling and Mrs. Tarrance reports that she is receiving more orders for the "Suzi-Q" to be taken home than ever before, as well as the many other popular sandwiches, barbecued meats with the special Hollywood sauce and other delicacies.

For those who prefer to enjoy their meal or snack in their auto there is ample parking space to be found at the Hollywood with courteous "carhops" to serve their whims.

A phone call to the Hollywood will bring a complete dinner to the home or office in a hurry by one of the fleet of delivery boys that is maintained to render "hurry-up" service to patrons who like this service.

If you are seeking a complete deluxe dinner or just a snack you can't go wrong in visiting this popular Monroe eatery on North Fourth Street.

Two views of the remodeled and redecorated Hollywood Sandwich Shop, popular eating establishment located at 903 North Fourth Street, is pictured above, showing the new counter that has been added, as well as booths, and the way it looks after the "face lifting" job on the front.

HOWARD GRIFFIN IS STRESSING SERVICE

With the markers of Johnson motors now completely converted to war production and no more motors coming off the assembly line for civilian use, Howard Griffin Motors, 712 South Grand, for many years local dealers for the famous Johnson line, is today placing emphasis on service.

Owners of Johnson motors, Mr. Griffin explained, are cognizant of the fact that they have the best motor buy on the market today. But, even the best motors will depreciate and wear, and with no more to be bought for the duration, your present motor must be serviced to give you the greatest possible degree of usefulness.

In Mr. Griffin's well-equipped and well-staffed shop, anything in motor repair, service or replacement can be efficiently handled. Mr. Griffin points out that delay in making minor adjustments when trouble is indicated may result in serious trouble later. He suggests that you let him periodically check your motor for defects. An enjoyable trip you plan may be ruined by a motor that is not performing satisfactorily. A little preventive work may save you much lost time and a big service bill, he said.

FIRESTONE STORE IS STRONG MONROE FIRM

Manager Shannon and the personnel of Monroe's modern Firestone store, corner Washington and North Third, are far from being "blue" over the wartime restrictions. Today, just as in other and happier years, the Firestone store is carrying on.

In its complete, up-to-the-minute service station the firm is giving motorists "tops" in automotive service, and adding them in their efforts to make their cars give 100 per cent efficiency of performance.

A visitor to the store would see little evidence of wartime restrictions. While stocks of many items carried in large numbers prior to the war, are reduced, other items have been added. The store's stocks are actively displayed and systematically arranged. In fact, business is as usual at the Firestone store.

Mr. Shannon and his staff invites you to visit their new home and see for yourself how that strong local institution has grown through the years.

During its 14 years of service the Hayes Lumber Company has played a big part in home building in the Twin Cities. Today the firm, as usual, is carrying a complete stock of everything needed in the building line.

With thousands of satisfied customers, acquired through its 14 years of service, the Hayes Lumber Company

DEAN AT TECH TO ENTER ARMY

Head Of Engineering Department To Become First Lieutenant

RUSTON, La., Aug. 8.—(Special)—Roy T. Sessums, dean of the school of engineering at Louisiana Tech, will leave Ruston Sunday morning for Miami Beach, Fla., where he will enter the army as a first lieutenant.

Sessums was named head of the Tech engineering school in 1940 to succeed E. C. Barrett, who had been granted a leave of absence for the duration of the war. President Claybrook Cottingham said, and H. J. Nethken, member of the Tech engineering staff for 17 years, has been appointed acting dean of the engineering school. The nature of Sessums' duties was not disclosed in a telegram he received advising him to report to the commanding officer of a sub-training school at Miami Beach temporarily, after which he will go to Gravelly Point, Va., to enter the training and literature section.

Dean Sessums was married on July 2 to Miss Pearl E. Brown, Tech art teacher. Mrs. Sessums will remain in Ruston at present, it was reported. Acting Dean Nethken has been head of the department of electrical engineering here the past year, prior to which he was professor of electrical engineering before the department was organized. He holds the B. S. degree from Highland Park college and the M. S. from Iowa State college. Sessums was an assistant professor at Tech three years before becoming dean two years ago. He is a graduate of Louisiana Tech and has the M. S. from Louisiana State university.

BROWN STRESSES NEED OF HEALTH

State Board President Points To Importance Of Department

"Now, more than ever before in the history of our country, the public health department looms in importance."

This is the theme that Dr. David E. Brown, president of the state board of health, has been hammering away at during the three weeks that he has been in Monroe, a stay occasioned by his wife being a patient in the St. Francis sanitarium, a victim of an automobile accident July 19.

During that three weeks, the newly-connected with the United States civil service commission or the state civil service.

elected head of the board of health has met and discussed with directors of parish health units in this section the role that their departments will play in the war crisis.

Wednesday he spoke to more than 100 nurses, sanitary inspectors, and directors of health units who gathered in Monroe for their regular regional conference.

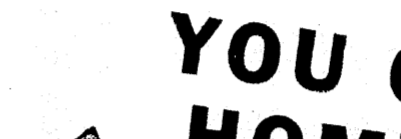

"You know as well as I that every day the shortage of practicing physicians in your parishes is becoming more and more acute," Dr. Brown said. "And that means the health units will have to assume an ever-increasing burden."

He outlined in a general way at the afternoon session of the conference future policies of the board of health, explaining that his concern over his wife since July 19 had prevented him from making a more specific report.

Mrs. Brown, whose condition for some time was grave, is now recovering at the St. Francis sanitarium.

The morning session of the regional conference was given over to sectional meetings, including meetings of directors, sanitary inspectors, nurses, food and drug inspectors, and a section devoted to venereal disease control.

Tarzan

by EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

TARZAN TRIED TO SHAPE A BOW-- IN VAIN. THE MOIST WOOD LACKED SPRINGINESS.

SO HE HAD NOTHING BUT HIS KNIFE AS A WEAPON AGAINST HIS FOE'S LONG-RANGE RIFLE. SO HE SET OUT AGAIN--

TO SEARCH FOR THE DANGEROUS HERMIT--TO KILL FIRST OR BE KILLED!

BUT SLY NAWRO KEPT TO HIS HIDING PLACE, HOPING TO UNNERVE TARZAN BY THE MYSTERY OF HIS DISAPPEARANCE.

AT MIDDAY THE APE-MAN WAS EXPLORING A SECTION OF SWAMPLAND, WEIRD AND DISMAL.

AS HE PENETRATED THE SWAMP ALONG A PENINSULA OF DRY LAND, HE TURNED SUDDENLY AS WAS HIS EVER CAUTIOUS HABIT.

THERE, IN THE DISTANCE HE SAW THE HUNTER, WHO HAD MYSTERIOUSLY REAPPEARED TO STALK HIM.

AS TARZAN HURRIED TO LOSE HIMSELF IN THE SWAMP, HE SAW A HUGE RHINOCEROS.

THE EYES OF THE RHINO WERE WEAK, BUT THE WIND BORE TO ITS KEEN NOSTRILS THE HATED SCENT OF THE INTRUDER.

THE FEROCIOUS BEAST PAWED THE EARTH, SNORTING WITH FURY.

TARZAN MIGHT HAVE ESCAPED, BUT NOW HE CONCEIVED A PLAN THAT REQUIRED HIM TO KILL THE MIGHTY MONSTER. BOLDLY HE STRODE FORWARD, THEN THE RHINO CHARGED! *NEXT WEEK: PIT OF DEATH!
